A RECORD NUMBER of volunteers have signed up to work at the U.S. Open Championship at Pebble Beach, June 15 - 21. For many, this is a once-in-a-lifetime experience. An opportunity to be a part of a U.S. Open, especially at Pebble Beach, comes along once every 10 years. The last two Opens at Pebble Beach were in 1972 and 1982.

Federal grand jury still investigating Oliver case

By DON MONKERUD

AMIDST RUMORS thick as fog on 17-Mile Drive and witnesses called as often as balls bouncing down cypress-bordered fairways, the investigation of Tom Oliver, president of Pebble Beach Co., by a federal grand jury in San Jose continues.

According to various sources contacted by The Pine Cone, the presentation of evidence in the case is being interrupted by federal murder cases from Oakland. "Grand jury investigations can take some time," explained George Mozingo, the agent in charge of the Monterey FBI office. "It can take months, even more than a year, depending upon the complexity of the matter being heard and the number of witnesses."

"This information has circulated to death," says Joe Russoniello of Cooley, Godward, Castro, Huddleston & Tatum, Oliver's lawyer in San Francisco. The information — "Federal grand jury probes Oliver, other locals in bank failure" — appeared in the local press the day after Christmas.

Russoniello admits that he and his client, Oliver, are aware of the continuing grand jury investigation and that the Assistant U.S. Attorney bringing evidence before the grand jury, Marcia Allmand of San Jose, is in touch with a number of lawyers.

"We do not know the state of the discussions; the case is in her hands," said Russoniello. "We see no change."

Federal banking laws

Possible violations revolve around federal banking laws and whether Robert Hopkins, president of the Texas-based Commodore Savings and Loan, controlled the votes of Oliver and several Carmel residents who bought shares in the Bank of Los Gatos. Oliver was a director and chairman of the board of Bank of Los Gatos.

Hopkins served two years of a 15-year unrelated federal conviction for fraud in Texas. Oliver reportedly obtained a number of loans from Hopkins, including a

Stately Pescadero Canyon becomes new rallying point

By PAUL WOLF

AS ANY close look will reveal, Pescadero Canyon is a kind of a multi-dimensional resource.

First of all, it is a majestic sanctuary to the Monterey pine, one of the region's great exports and claims to fame. This canyon is no urban forest either; it is natural, wild.

Next, Pescadero Canyon is a wetlands habitat, and so deserves special protection from that standpoint alone.

But there is more, the canyon is an "archaeologically significant area" within the framework and codes of the state's coastal zone. Important as it is, the designation comes across as dry next to, say, a certain bit of family lore passed on by Carmel's Linda Smith: her father and uncle went out walking in the canyon one day and found two arrow heads and a grinding stone — Indian artifacts.

So when Carmel residents flocked before the Carmel City Council last week to make an impassioned plea to stop a development on Pescadero Canyon, it was clear what the big issue of the second half of the year was likely to be.

Environmentalist Noel Mapstead, leading the Friends of Pescadero Canyon, has fought many solitary battles before the over the Carmel city line at its western tip, adjacent to Pebble Beach.

The canyon originates roughly at Highway 1 and Holman Highway. It follows the southern flank of Highway 68, and stretches to Carmel Gate near San Antonio Avenue.

The Tescher-LeVett property is located on the north side of Second Avenue between Lopez Avenue and Palou Street, on the canyon side.

In a formal appeal, the Friends of Pescadero Canyon called on the council to throw out planning commission permits paving the way for a two-story home.

The 23,800-square-foot lot is one of five undeveloped parcels in Carmel section of canyon. The California-American Water Co. owns the smallest parcel, which

Council opposes more debt to buy Pescadero

By PAUL WOLF

DESPITE EXPRESSING the highest hopes for acquiring a chunk of Pescadero Canyon, none of the five Carmel City Council members supports going further into debt to do so.

In separate interviews with The Carmel Pine Cone, the five council members agreed that issuing bonds to finance the city council. That he could suddenly find himself with such backing showed the community had found a rallying point for a wide range of citizens.

Meanwhile, one of the developers of the proposed single-family home, Chris Tescher, told The Pine Cone he believes residents were over-reacting to the modest dwelling proposed. The magnificent canyon is not in jeopardy, he argued.

Across city limits

The canyon stretches over a mile within the county's jurisdiction and then steps purchase of the Carmel part of the canyon is not a realistic option.

Members are pinning immediate hopes on a land swap between the city and property owner.

"Our city resources are stretched so far right now," said Mayor Ken White. "I am not willing to indebted the city any more, but that would be a question up to the council."

Indeed, but his colleagues feel the same way.

CRA shenanigans

Dear Editor:

In regards to the just past mayoral election. I have waited for the last two issues of The Pine Cone to see if at least one member of the CRA would come forward with an apology for the cruel mudslinging tactics used by that group in their last minute attack of Barney Laiolo and Don Kremer in the "Village Watch."

Since none have come forth I can only assume that each and every member of the CRA condones such political shenanigans. If you are a member of the CRA you should be ashamed that your leadership would stoop to such tactics. Calling Don Kremer a developer because he owns more than one piece of property and has had the audacity to improve these properties was one of the more outstanding of the many insolent statements made by the CRA.

Furthermore, the publication of the Village Watch without any printed notice that it is a vehicle of a political organization is a breach of election laws in the state of California. The CRA has been fined in the past for allowing such infractions. Apparently, victory at any cost is the battle cry of your leaders.

I was, and still am, a strong supporter of Barney Laiolo and his policies of fiscal responsibility. When the Village Watch was distributed, just four days before election, disguised as a nonpolitical publication, I met with the Laiolo political machine Barney, & Elinor. We met to map out our answer to the lies published about Barney by the Village Watch. After about four hours of careful composition, which responded to the accusations made by the Watch, and included the creation of some delightful cartoons showing Ken White and Barbara Livingston as puppets of the CRA, replete with strings attached, I felt that we had put together a pretty good response to the opposition.

I had even included some historical background on the CRA's then President, Mr. James Halliday, and his well publicized budgetary problems as past Director of the California Historical Society. I was ready to go to press. About eight o'clock that evening I answered a call from Barney. He had given the matter considerable thought and he felt that it was in the best interest of Carmel, and his campaign, that we not respond, in kind, to the mudslinging at Barney's insistence the response documents were cancelled in their entirety. When I argued that we ought to rise up and respond to the character assassination, lest people believe the lies, he said to me, "Ron, it just isn't my style." Carmel is lucky to have a man of Barney Laiolo's character as a community leader. The CRA should be so lucky.

To the CRA's successful candidate Mayor White, I would say 158 votes is not exactly a mandate. If eighty of those people had voted the other way you wouldn't be Mayor. Whether we like it or not the village of Carmel by the Sea is made up of CRA's and anti-CRA's. The CRA put you in office so we know where you stand. However, in your part-time job as Mayor I would ask you, for the good of Carmel, to resist the CRA's programs for building mini-parks where none are needed; and to vote against the purchase of more, so called, open space properties; and to not be pressured into providing space for broken down shacks under the guise of restoring landmarks.

While all of these projects may sound worthwhile, they are simply not affordable. Carmel's businesses are in sorry shape. A review of the drop in sales tax

Support the U.S. Open

WE READ the praises of golf on the Monterey Peninsula so regularly that we sometimes lull ourselves into a ho-hum mood. Mistake!

With the coming of the U.S. Open in one month, this is a good time to remind ourselves that golf on the Monterey Peninsula is a significant industry, and should not be taken for granted.

We suggest awakening to the reality of the U.S. Open's presence because we have an uneasy feeling that many residents haven't given it much thought.

It makes little difference whether you are a golfer or a tennis player, the U.S. Open will have a major economic impact on the Monterey Peninsula. And considering the recession slump, it couldn't come at a better time.

An estimated 15,000 hard core spectators will be at Pebble Beach for each of the three days of practice, and another 25,000 will be in attendance during championship play.

Hundreds, if not thousands, of local residents have been placed on the payroll — directly and indirectly. Hotels, motels and more than a few private homes, have been booked months in advance. A table for two at any restaurant is nonexistent. This all adds up to spill-over money for our community.

Better yet, coverage of the U.S. Open by ABC and ESPN and an estimated 1,500 golf writers and photographers will graphically transport the Monterey Peninsula into homes around the world.

Thanks, golf.

revenues and a count of the "For Lease" signs in the shop windows will confirm this fact. The character of the retail businesses has changed from the tweedy, artistic, and natural to the Sharper Image appearance, slick, plastic and ill-matched to the picture one draws in their mind when they hear the words, "Carmel-by-the-Sea".

I would urge you, Mayor White, to visit each and every business in the one square mile of your fiefdom. Listen to their comments and woes and respond with a strategy that will provide the community with a unified long range plan for growth, for growth is sure to come. Better to have it contained than to have it contain us.

Hopefully, Mayor White, you will provide the leadership to take Carmel back to those days when it was known throughout the world as that little village in California with the Continental charm of the old country. If you can't, don't worry Barney will be around again in '94 strong as ever.

Let's reconsider

Dear Editor:

At the city council meeting last Tuesday night, May 5, the council approved the concept of a joint venture with the Post Office to narrow Fifth Avenue in order to meet a U.S. Postal Service requirement for handicap access to the post office building.

In my opinion, I feel there were some unanswered questions, to wit: By allowing the post office to install the ramp as designed, the city is actually giving away that part of city property. Secondly, what happens if the post office is moved at a later date? The third question involves removing four feet of Fifth Avenue, reducing the area used very heavily every day for car and truck traffic. A fourth item, installing a mini park in front of both entrance doors, will create a hazard to pedestrians. The installation of a table and benches would create more impediments to foot traffic. After all, we only have elections every two years and I don't feel this is an urgent project.

An EIR should be made to cover a full-blown traffic study, both vehicular and pedestrian, and the effect on traffic flow in surrounding neighborhoods.

No study has been made, to my knowledge, of using the easterly existing entry which is flush with the present sidewalk or making interior changes within the structure to accommodate wheelchair users.

I also do not feel enough study was given to changing the entrance on the Dolores Street side. I believe the incline there would be less than going up from the corner of Fifth and Dolores to the proposed ramp.

An Environmental Impact Report would answer all of these points.

IN ITS April 30 issue, The Carmel Pine Cone mistakenly attributed the forthcoming Serendipity Auction to the Carmel Friends of Rocky Shores. In fact, the event, which will be held June 7, is being orchestrated by the original Pacific Grove-based Friends of Rocky Shores.

Musberger prepares for U.S. Open coverage

Editors note: The following is an exclusive account of ABC's sportscaster Brent Musberger touring Pebble Beach with defending champion Payne Stewart in preparation for the upcoming U.S. Open Championship. This is the third time in as many decades that the U.S. Open will be played at Pebble. Dates are June 15 - 21.

By SCOTT BREARTON

ABC SPORTSCASTER Brent Musberger went on a Mother's Day walking tour of the Pebble Beach Golf Links last Sunday, familiarizing himself with the course and taking in the sun and warm ocean breezes in preparation for his coverage of the 1992 U.S. Open.

The walk-through, in the company of Payne Stewart, defending U.S. Open champion, gave Musberger, who had played the course earlier in the day, an opportunity to study the layout as an observer rather than a participant.

Giving Musberger a blow-by-blow account, Stewart discussed his strategies for each particular hole as well as the hazards and peculiarities players will encounter during the tournament. Playing as a threesome with Stewart were Paul Spengler, U.S. Open general chairman and vice president of golf at Pebble, and Stewart's friend, Todd Awe. Friendly wagers and traditional side bets were made as the round began.

"If you're a student and an exam is coming up, you've got to do your homework," Musberger explained of his tour. "That's what today is all about - doing my homework. If you're prepared, you're not as apprehensive," he added.

Musberger has been a sportscaster since 1968. He worked for CBS Sports for 22 years before moving to ABC two years ago. His golf experience includes covering the Masters for six years with CBS and the pro tour with ABC this year.

Pebble looked great, and it should. Greenskeepers have been working on the course for months, and with only five weeks to go, it is in excellent condition.

Stewart's play was exemplary. His drives were consistently long and straight and his chipping game was strong. He made several long putts and missed a few as well, showing that even a defending U.S. Open champion can be vulnerable at Pebble.

"If your stroke and your follow-through is good, they're eventually going to go in," Stewart said, excusing a missed six-foot putt.

Carmel High needs U.S. Open volunteers

IN THE case of the Carmel and Pacific Grove Unified School Districts, volunteers are the event. Pebble Beach Company has offered to donate $70,000 to each school district if they provide 450 volunteers each to the U.S. Open. Carmel is responsible for staffing the retail tents and Pacific Grove will handle the food and beverage outlets. Participants will receive a U.S. Open polo shirt, visor, commemorative certificate and free meals on days worked.

As of this date, Pacific Grove has all its volunteers signed up. Carmel has not met its quota and is still seeking people to fill the remaining slots. Parents, students, friends and neighbors of Carmel Schools are asked to call Michael Moore at 625-5948.

Open preview

During the walk-through, an ABC camera team shot footage for a U.S. Open preview show to be aired the week before the tournament.

Musberger and Stewart were wired for sound on the first tee, and were later joined by the camera crew on the holes with oceanside views. The two conducted brief impromptu rehearsals about what they would talk about while on camera. One conversation centered on the beautiful backdrop of Stillwater Cove and how the panoramic ocean view helped to relieve the stress of tournament play.

Seemingly endless video was shot to yield just three and a half minutes of edited tape, and on Monday, ABC filmed aerial shots from a helicopter. Musberger said he would be joined in the broadcasting booth by Steve Melnick, Jack Nicklaus, Jim McKay, and Jack Whittaker when the Open kicks off in June.

"ABC will be covering the event alone," he said.

Network coverage of a major golf tournament can be a logistical nightmare, according to Musberger. He said the network's engineering department had the biggest task, setting up cameras, wiring, and cables. Musberger said he would be working very closely with ABC producer Terry Jastro.

"Terry tells me where I'm going and where I'm supposed to be," he said.

When asked who his pick was to win the 1992 U.S. Open, Musberger's response was surprising. After watching Stewart attack the course relentlessly for 18 holes, one would've thought Musberger would go with the defending champion.

"I think it would be easy to say Fred Couples or Dave Love, but because of his success in the past here, I'd almost have to pick Mark O'Meara as my favorite this year," Musberger said.

As the sun began to set on the stunning 18th tee, Stewart turned to Musberger and said, "This is what it's all about. It's supposed to come down to the last hole, Brent."

"I wouldn't have it any other way," Musberger replied, digging deep into his pocket for a lost wager to Spengler.

Legal lines form around Pescadero Canyon

By PAUL WOLF

IN MOST cases, it comes down to a choice: be content with a few restrictions on development, or find a way to buy the folks out.

Noel Mapstead, who has taken a leadership role in blocking a proposed single-family home at Pescadero Canyon, sees this case as different, not tied to a simple choice.

In a phone interview with The Carmel Pine Cone, he argued that the city does not have to allow the construction of a dwelling at all. A new home, he argued, could be blocked legally "without compensation to the property owner."

The basis for doing so, he said, is clear as the written word in the Carmel's Local Coastal Plan.

Mapstead cited certain clauses that give extra protection to environmentally sensitive habitat. For one thing, the plan, at least on the surface, seems to spell out that uses can be restricted to those "dependent on" such the habitat itself.

In other words, construction on the property in question could be restricted to, say, a research station — or some other use dependent on the land. A home would not be deemed dependent on the property's natural resources.

Not surprisingly, developer Chris Tescher argued forbidding a home on any residentially zoned lot is illegal. Regardless of what the coastal plan says, the U.S. Constitution carries more weight, he said.

Mayor Ken White, too, was skeptical. "If Noel knows something I don't know, I'd love to hear it. But I'm really not sure about this."

A research station would could not be considered a "reasonable return" on someone's residential lot, he said. Moreover, it would be a commercial use of a kind, and thus not acceptable under city zoning.

City Atty. Don Freeman was unreachable at the time of this writing. So far, according to Planning Director Diane White, Freeman's official line has been that the property owner "has the legal right to build something."

The assumption has been that "something" means a house. But White, staying neutral on the debate, noted the land use plan has "a lot of ambiguities."

Unique zoning

The land has an almost contradictory zoning designation — "R-1-P-0," which means "residential (for single-family structures), public open." Mapstead believes the coastal plan would provide a ground for blocking a dwelling without compensation. But it also, he said, creates a basis for the city's making a zoning change to erase the first half of the designation.

White noted that the June council meeting will include a full airing of all the options.

Some inconvenience to Cal-Am water line project

THE CARMEL Public Works Department is alerting residents to expect at least a little inconvenience to result from the California-American Water Company's replacement of utility lines.

Director Jim Cullem said residents on San Antonio Avenue, from Carmel Gate to Ocean Avenue, will unavoidably suffer some loss of neighborhood tranquility, as there will be a fair amount of noise and off-and-on detours.

"We will try to have the least possible impact, but there is no way you can do this kind of project painlessly," Cullem said.

The project, scheduled to take about a month, includes the installation of a 30-inch water main through Pebble Beach and Carmel, according to Cullem.

It began on the Pebble Beach side of the gate May 4, and has now started on the Carmel side. The work is expected to continue until about May 23.

In Carmel, the work will be carried out by the Granite Construction Co., under the supervision of Carmel city employees. Cal-Am is bearing the costs, which include more than $1 million-worth of work within the city limits, according to Cullem.

The existing weak, aging lines — a source of headaches and problems in the past — will be removed, and the new line put in, said Cullem.

The project will necessitate frequent closures of Carmel Gate. Cullem said the city will post notices on San Antonio and on Ocean alerting residents to whatever they must live with.

The work on San Antonio is known as Phase I. Phase II will include line replacements along the south side of Ocean Avenue and along Mountain View Avenue on either side. That work will begin in September following peak tourist season, Pullem said.

Pullem suggested the inconveniences of such work were unavoidable.

Rocky Shores

CARMEL'S OWN mini movement to save Pacific Grove's Rocky Shores is creeping along nicely, as the fundraising total for Carmelites has hit $1,100, according to the coordinator of the drive.

Steve Brooks, who is coordinating the efforts of the Carmel Friends of Rocky Shores, said he hopes to raise $2,000.

The money will be turned over to the City of Pacific Grove's Rocky Shores Preservation Fund.

The $1,100 so far has meant 11 contributions at $100. Brooks said he has just mailed off 17 letters "to people I think are environmentally concerned and might be able to give $100."

Motorists face delays during Highway One repavement

BEGINNING May 11, motorists traveling on Highway One between Carmel and Big Sur will be subject to intermittent delays, according to Caltrans Public Information Officer Teri Conrad.

The 3-week repaving project, between Carpenter Street in Carmel and Andrew Molera State Park, will replace deteriorating pavement with a one inch asphalt concrete blanket to extend the life of the highway.

Vehicles will encounter one-way traffic guided by a pilot car between 7:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Friday. A reduced speed limit will be posted and flagmen will be present.

"We understand the frustration motorists will experience because of the delays, and will do our best to minimize the inconvenience," said Caltrans District 5 Director Bill Ojeda. "All businesses and restaurants along Highway One will remain open during construction," he said.

Motorists are asked to drive with extra care, and to be alert for construction workers and equipment. No detours are available.

Debate over Pescadero Canyon

is 3,750 square feet and too small to be built on.

The council decided to delay deliberation on the appeal, opting to first talk about its general goals and hopes for the canyon at its June 2 meeting.

The prospect of development managed to bring out the poetry in residents who spoke at the public hearing May 6. They cited the Indians and the Taoist sages who found away to live in harmony with nature. They spoke of the cause of preservation as being carried out on behalf of future generations, not one's own.

Overstated remarks

Amid the high level of concern, there is another side.

Speaking in a phone interview, Developer Chris Tescher, of the partnership Tescher-LeVett Investment, Inc., said he is sympathetic with the "serious comments" made at the meeting. But he views them as "emotionally overstated remarks" not in scale with the project.

The partnership also owns a lot yards away, immediately across the Pebble Beach line. That property has had a development proposal on hold with the county for many months. The stakes are still standing where a house is intended for that lot.

As for the Carmel side, Tescher stressed that only a third of the half-acre lot would be used as a building site, leaving two-thirds to be dedicated to the city as permanent undeveloped area. Taking the whole lot into account, he said, less than 10 percent would actually be covered by a structure.

Moreover, he spoke of his plans to work gingerly with the sensitive environment. As just one example, all holes will be dug by hand, rather than with earth-moving equipment. "I do not believe for one moment that if we build a house we would destroy the canyon as we know it," Tescher said.

The legal challenge lodged by Mapstead seeks "to stop development by any means," he said.

City officials will have to sort out the possible from the impossible, the fair from the unfair. Can it change the zoning to block a house from being built? Is it possible to acquire the land, and if so how? On what grounds can the council determined planning commission permits were invalid?

In the end, the community's fight may become as multi-dimensional as the resource it hopes to protect from any further development.

Council frowns on more debt

"I think the city's bond indebtedness is right now at its limit. I don't consider it an option."

Councilman Bob Fischer spoke of the urgency of preserving the land, but alluded to the Bottom Line: "I feel strongly — desperately — about the preservation of one of the few totally natural sites left in the city. But we just don't have the money."

At present, the city's debts add up to roughly $700,000 for the acquisitions of Rio and Vista Lobos parks, according to Greg D'Ambrosio, acting city administrator. The city is roughly two decades away from retired the debts in full.

Council members are hopeful the city can pull off a land swap with the owner-developer partnership, Tescher-LeVett Investments, Inc. Rather than buying the land, the city would trade some of its undeveloped street ends and other rights-of-way where a home could be built.

Carmel Planning Director Diane White, said the city has about seven sites are possible trade items. Neither White nor council members could comment elaborately on the land swap concept because the two sides are now in the middle of delicate talks on the subject.

Meanwhile, however, developer Chris Tescher said, "A land swap is a very complicated thing, and I think our chances are about 50-50 it will work out."

Padres tie in MTAL

CARMEL HIGH School baseballers and the Pacific Grove Breaker nine ended their season this week in a tie atop the Mission Trail Athletic League.

PG traveled to Carmel Tuesday and whipped the hosts, 6-2, thus claiming half the MTAL crown. Both squads posted a 1992 record of nine wins and three losses.

The same teams meet again Friday at Robert Louis Stevenson School to decide the MTAL top seed in the upcoming Central Coast Baseball Tournament. The tilt starts at 3:30 p.m.

Interestingly, PG coach Jeff Gray was a pitcher on the school's last championship squad — 1982.

'Civil war' at KAZU averted by last-minute executive move

By JOHN DETRO

NEW PROGRAM Director Peter Williams this week avoided what his predecessor called "a civil war" at the peninsula's KAZU Public Radio by halting wide format changes which assertedly were secrecy-wrapped until almost the last — and explosive — minute.

His action came Monday night during a meeting of dissident KAZU broadcasters in the community room of Monterey Public Library. Williams said the surprise move had "full support" from KAZU General Manager Rebecca Little.

Little confirmed the point on Tuesday, saying: "Yes, what Peter said was fine with me. The situation was blown far out of proportion. I just hope the whole series of events will bring us all closer together. I think it will."

At issue was replacement of KAZU's

eclectic format with "strip programming" — the same musical genres in the same time slots Monday through Friday. The switch would have gone into effect June 1. Generally, volunteer programmers — the station has 60 of these, as opposed to paid executive staff — said they had no voice as the significant change developed.

Responsibility taken

Former Program Director Suzanne Dobkin said via a letter written for general perusal on Monday night: "I am the author of these changes — no one else. I will stand by them...It was not my intention to cause a civil war...I made some grave errors in judging how these changes would be looked upon and I obviously didn't do a good enough job of explaining my positions...With deepest apologies for many obvious mistakes and hopes for a bright future."

Dobkin said in a Sunday evening telephone conversation that she resigned due to "job burnout." At that time, she withheld additional comment, saying: "I no longer work at the station." In her letter, she said her goal was KAZU's financial well-being through increased listenership.

Williams, a veteran of commercial airtime at KJAZ as well as public radio outlets, replaced Dobkin on April 15.

He appeared unannounced and uninvited at Monday night's gathering of 18 prominent volunteers. Reading from a statement, Williams said: "In response to the whole affair, the strip formatting proposal has been temporarily put on hold. The (KAZU program) guide is going to print with the schedule as we have it now. There will be some changes, but not for a while and not without your in-put. Come to PAC (Program Advisory Committee) meetings. Your in-put is valuable...."

Statement applauded

After his words drew general applause, Williams left within the session's first half hour. Subsequently, volunteer and PAC member Joyce Day Meuse said KAZU staff had urged the PAC to "keep quiet" about the format changes until these "had been approved by the board." Board member and volunteer J.T. Mason said the governing panel issued "conceptual approval up until 4 p.m. (in the broadcast day)" at a staff/board retreat on April 25.

Asked about the Meuse statement, General Manager Little said on Tuesday: "We didn't want to hurt anyone's feelings. We didn't want to get people riled up. We didn't know it would get approved. Until you have an approved plan, you can't say anything. This isn't about people losing their shows. We shouldn't be fighting among ourselves."

What was at stake? Participants at Monday's session placed KAZU's current budget at "around $200,000." Volunteers raised $52,000 during the last pledge drive in March. Programmers include educators and other professional people who believe in public radio. For example, Leslie Shill (he called the meeting chaired by Arden Eaton) is a special projects director in the state university system. Mason was named one of Monterey County's half dozen Outstanding Women of 1992.

When the Loma Prieta earthquake hit, KAZU won much praise for serving the entire area as an information center. A station spokesperson said the broadcast signal covers "most of Monterey County, Santa Cruz, Los Gatos, Hollister, down the coast to certainly Big Sur." KAZU's offices are in downtown Pacific Grove.

The crisis surfaced last week when tipsters told The Pine Cone that certain KAZU shows were threatened by the format switch. Sources within the volunteer pool said "the grapevine" spread the news among several programmers after Williams began one-on-one talks with some who might be affected by the big change. Management and volunteers got together for a hastily-called meeting on May 6 at the Holiday Inn.

'Completely tactless'

"Programmers were not in favor (of the new format)," Shill said just before Monday night's session began. "We were all against the lack of due process. This (change) was handled in a completely tactless way. It could not have been done with any less subtlety."

Programmer John Dotson attended the May 6 meeting, he said Monday, and still felt so confused that he was submitting his resignation after having done the Tuesday night poetry show for eight years. When he later withdrew that resignation, his colleagues applauded loudly.

Weeknight jazz host David Gitin said in conversation Sunday that he was offered — and refused — a 6 a.m. slot. He said he learned about "losing my show" right after his 12th anniversary broadcast.

"They accomplished the whole thing without telling us," Gitin added. "We were raising money in March according to the supposition that we'd have our same shows. This is a highly immoral situation. No one had a clue — it was a fluke that some of us got the word."

"Whoever thought this through," Dotson said during a separate weekend interview, "did not think it through particularly well. Somewhere, something's not being planned out right."

That mood was what Program Director Williams walked into on Monday night. After his statement, participants switched focus. How could programmers, they asked one another, assure strong participation in future decisions?

Home away from home

Dear Editor:

Though we are not residents of Carmel, we don't think of ourselves as tourists. Carmel is absolutely our home away from home. All we think or talk about is to someday be lucky enough to be permanent residents, to be part of the community.

Even though Carmel is three and a half hours away, we have been known to hop in the car and drive down for lunch. We truly have withdrawals if we're away too long! The beauty and tranquility speaks for itself. The people have always been warm and friendly and we have come to know several business people from our many visits. We feel safe and secure while sitting quietly on a park bench, gazing at the ocean and dreaming of the day we'll be a part of it all.

Because we do think of Carmel as our home, we subscribe to The Pine Cone to keep abreast of the news. I must tell you as impartial third parties and admitting that we don't know all of what's going on, we've never seen so much bickering back and forth. It gives the impression that everyone is fighting with each other, the city council, the residents association and businesses.

Surely in such a beautiful and tranquil village there can't be this much discord! Mr. Laub seems to be the most dissatisfied, so I have a suggestion. I suggest if Mr. Laub is so dissatisfied with Carmel, we exchange places. He can come to the Sacramento area and live in the 115 degree heat and cope with an unbelievable amount of crime, and we'll take his place in Carmel. This way he won't have the frustrations that living in Carmel brings, and we won't have the frustrations of living in Sacramento.

To everyone else we say, you have to be the luckiest people in the world and now that the elections are over I hope that you can put your differences aside to work together to keep Carmel as wonderful as it is. You see, we have a personal interest in all this. Carmel may be our future home!

Yes, no, maybe so

Dear Editor:

What absurd leadership(?) Supervisor Kauffman is now offering regarding a proposed light at Highway 1 and the Carmel Valley Road. Let's put it up. Let's not put it up. Let's install it, but not turn it on because it will cause an uproar with new traffic problems.

Is it okay to spend CalTrans money, i.e. your tax dollars, on something that seems doomed from the onset? CalTrans says do it our way, right or wrong, or you can't have our money. (Is that remindful of how some kids play games? My ball, my rules.) Do supervisors make decisions based upon common sense and research, or rely upon input from the last phone call a constituent makes into their offices?

If the supervisors are going to have public meetings on such issues, why not have them held in an area closer to the people effected. Don't have the meetings in Salinas. How about holding them at Carmel Middle School or the Crossroads meeting room.

A light is not needed at this time. It will slow down traffic flow rather than improve it. If you think the lines up and down Highway 1 are bad during the peak hours now, just wait to see what occurs if a stoplight is installed.

Let's do intelligent long-term planning rather than crisis management. The latter will always cost more and be less effective.

Federal grand jury probe

$400,000 loan from Commodore to buy shares in the bank. Under the arrangement, share holders would have profited from the rising value of bank shares.

"The people involved in the bank were going to get considerable help from Commodore on how to run a bank," said Russoniello. "But the controller of the currency disallowed Hopkins's involvement. It really stifled the ability of a number of people to be able to carry out their expectations to make the Bank of Los Gatos a truly successful venture."

An examiner in the Controller of the Currency's San Francisco office explained that the Bank of Los Gatos was closed in 1987 due to insolvency. When the controller's office discovered the number of loans made to board members of the bank by Hopkins, bank examiners conjectured whether Hopkins was the true owner and the others were nominees. The examiner explained that the Bank of Los Gatos was buying speculative real estate loans from Texas without the proper documentation. After closure, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the FDIC, subsequently wrote off $6 million in bad loans.

"The bank was going to Texas buying loans from Commodore, sucking money out of California to set up poor credit quality real estate loans," the examiner said. "They were simply buying loans without any credit quality assessment whatsoever."

According to a former board member of the bank who was bought out by the Hopkins-financed group, the bank was lending money to Commodore Savings and Loan that was paying interest to the bank in order to show a profit. "A disgruntled employee went to the controller (of the currency) and told them that Commodore was funding the bank and paying a high rate of interest on their loans," the former board member said. "That's when the controller came in and fired the president and made them sever their ties with Commodore."

Russoniello maintains that Oliver's payment of $200,000 in a civil case resulting from the bank closure settled his obligations and proved that he was an owner and not a nominee. Oliver refused to talk to The Pine Cone and declined to comment on whether he was a witness before the grand jury.

Statute of limitations

Normally such cases would not go before a grand jury because of a five year statute of limitations on federal crimes. But in 1989, Congress passed a group of 10 statutes — called FIREA, or Financial Institutions Reform and Enforcement Act — that extended the statute of limitations to 10 years for bank fraud cases. The law extends the definition of fraud to banks, sets forfeiture penalties for property gained as a result of illegal activity, allows for electronic surveillance in banking cases, and defines racketeering activities in the banking industry.

While officials of the Lone Cypress Co. are aware that Oliver is under investigation, secretary-treasurer Paul Leach said that the company has total confidence in Oliver.

"I don't understand how so many people know about these rumors and the new owners don't seem to be worried about it," said a former Pebble Beach Co. official who explained that Oliver's relationship with Hopkins dated back to the late 1970s. "They put all their faith in Tom and it could make them look foolish."

One possible reason Lone Cypress doesn't take the investigation seriously is that an investigation does not imply guilt. Steven Jigger, an assistant U.S. Attorney in Allmand's office in San Jose (Allmand refused to return repeated phone calls), explained, "The normal policy of the Department of Justice is neither to confirm or deny investigations."

The policy is meant to protect the reputations of individuals to avoid their being judged guilty. Grand juries are totally secret and are not trials; they allow rumors and hearsay to be admitted as evidence and witnesses are not allowed legal counsel. Prosecutors bring evidence before the 23-member grand jury which determines whether a prosecutable offense has occurred. Serving as a preliminary hearing, the grand jury decides whether there is probable cause that a crime was committed which will result in indictments and binding-over of the accused for trial.

Grand jury secret testimony

Because grand juries are secret, their inner workings are almost impossible to penetrate. Only witnesses are allowed to talk about their testimony. One federal grand jury member who just completed her tenure admitted that grand juries are currently hearing many bank and savings and loan cases.

"You have to remember that we only hear state's evidence," she said, "and we only determine whether there's enough evidence to go to trial. But the U.S. Attorney's are not presenting evidence unless there's a good chance of indictment. Sometimes attorneys begin presenting evidence and then let it die. But of the cases where we heard all the evidence, we brought indictments 99% of the time."

Shoot-out at KAZU ends well

Rama P. Jama) drafted a six-point proposal which he said would be presented at both the next evening's PAC session and the board meeting of May 20 at Monterey Bay Inn. He called for an "impartial survey of listeners," reorganization of the PAC "to better serve programmers and staff," more programmers on the board of directors, an "open and gradual" process on format changes, more "help for individual programmers" via staff feedback, a definition of growth.

KAZU offers "precious diversity," poet-teacher Dotson said, and must decide whether growth means "getting bigger to make more money so that it can get even bigger and make even more money."

Chairperson Eaton urged programmers to attend PAC and board meetings regularly: "I think Peter was really sincere...and now it's up to us...this ugly mess can be a starting point...It's incumbent upon us to preserve (KAZU's) diversity and uniqueness. We programmers should have a meeting, with staff, as soon as possible after the board meeting."

Near the end of Monday night's get-together, she urged: "Every person with a good idea needs to speak up. Don't depend on others."

When he came aboard at KAZU, Williams said outside the meeting, he "had no idea the strip (format) was all prepared. It wasn't handled right, and I'm sorry. Rebecca agrees that we should start over again."

foreign countries are taking vacation time to travel to Pebble Beach. In return for their services they receive a week-long pass to the championship, a souvenir uniform, a chance to view world-class golf, make new friends, meet people from around the world and have the privilege of being able to say they witnessed golf history.

Olympic Experience

Paul Spengler, U.S. Open general chairman and Pebble Beach Company's vice president of golf, Special Projects Director Peter Joyce and Corporate Hosts Co-Chair Maggie Hardy all regard the U.S. Open as a mini-reunion. They have fond memories of working together under the charismatic Peter Ueberoth during the '84 Olympics.

Spengler never knew what was going to happen next during the countdown days before the Olympics.

"When the Soviet Union pulled out at the last minute," he said, remembering the excitement, "there was a mobilization around the world to get a contingent from the Iron Curtain countries confirmed." Spengler, who is a four-handicapper in golf, has a higher comfort level with the Open.

"Every day between now and June 15 means a new experience for many of the committee heads," he said recently, "but I'm personally more comfortable with this event. I can anticipate what's coming."

Peter Joyce first met Spengler and Hardy in the airport hanger that served as command central for the L.A. Olympics. He believes quality people gravitate to high caliber events and like the others, feels privileged to have been able to work for Ueberoth. Joyce, who holds a similar position now as special projects director, has an overview of the entire event.

"There has been a new influx of people on all levels for this tournament in addition to the core of AT&T volunteers. The cooperation between Pebble Beach Company, the U.S. Open Committee and the USGA has been magnificent."

Hardy, the third Olympic alum, noticed similarities.

"People who worked at the Olympics were willing to do what it took to get the job done. I see the same overwhelming dedication and commitment from people in this community. That's the reason I'm here."

Respect for Volunteers

Hardy and Julie Armstrong, executive director of the Monterey County Film Commission, are Corporate Host co-chairs. Hardy has never been involved with a golf tournament but has tremendous respect for volunteers from her experience at the Olympics.

"The U.S. Open is like the Olympics," she said in a knowing way. "It's a way for the community to come together and present a good face to the world. It's a wonderful community relations opportunity. People in L.A. understood the whole world was watching, and starting June 15 the world will be watching the Monterey Peninsula."

Armstrong, whose credits include work with the Stanford University Athletic Department, Nike and tennis promotions for stars such as Billie Jean King, says her committee is responsible for seeing corporate guests have the best possible experience.

Hardy added to that, "Volunteers are our ambassadors and we want them to feel well prepared to handle any situation."

Corporate hosts with titles such as

"Information Pro," "Caddie" and "Nineteenth Hole Hostess," will meet and greet guests in the 13 chalets in the corporate village, corporate pavilions, premiere tent, ABC hospitality facility and Pebble Beach Company's Fairway One house.

Hardy, Armstrong and their committee, which includes Ruth Buell, coordinator of volunteer services at the Monterey Bay Aquarium, Aquarium volunteer consultant Susie Thom and Dee Adolph, director of operations for the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and Visitors and Convention Bureau, place the care and feeding of the volunteer high on their list of priorities.

"We want to establish a high comfort level and camaraderie among the hospitality volunteers right away so they'll want to come back to their job for all four days," Armstrong explained. "Volunteers can make or break an event."

Peninsula water district must retain flexibility

By Robert Greenwood

Carmel Valley Property Owners Association
Chairman, Water Management Committee

THE MONTEREY Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) has adopted a Drought Reserve policy that states that water connections should be limited accordingly so that the district can survive another drought with no more than 10 percent rationing.

I prefer the term "Drought Insurance Policy," to avoid the implication that a specific quantity of reserve water is being stored somewhere.

Because the characteristics of the Seaside and Carmel Valley aquifers are very different, the district must retain some flexibility. When Carmel Valley has ample water, Seaside should rest and recuperate; when Carmel Valley runs dry, the Seaside aquifer can help to fill the breach. Whether you choose to call it "Reserve" or "Insurance," today we are about 1,000 acre feet short of meeting the policy's requirements.

Permits for new connections can only be issued, therefore, as new sources of water are developed. The district has determined that 50 percent of new supplies shall be written off against "Drought Reserve" until the goal of that policy is met.

The first new source likely to come on line is Cal-Am's Paralta well, drilled last year in the northeast corner of Seaside, in a residential area. A formula was agreed upon to divide Paralta water between the deficit, drought reserve, and new connections to be shared between the cities and the county.

Seaside objects

Complications arose when Paralta water proved to contain hydrogen sulfide, a natural contaminant, not enough to be poisonous, but enough to smell foul. Cal-Am planned to deal with this problem by treating the hydrogen sulfide in the pipeline, oxidizing it with hydrogen peroxide and correcting the acidity with caustic soda.

ROBERT GREENWOOD

In a surprise move, the City of Seaside objected on environmental grounds, suggesting that the transport and storage of these chemicals in a residential area

Pacific Meadows administrator seeks 'champagne' quality of life for residents

By SUSAN BECK

PACIFIC MEADOWS residents have an ally who has their best interest at heart.

Bobbie Schacher, administrator for the retirement community in Carmel Valley, is determined to provide a safe, comfortable, and efficient place to live for all of the people who chose to reside at the 200-unit housing project high on the hill.

"My goal is to make this place function properly, and I am working to iron out all the kinks. I would like to see Pacific Meadows have the same prestige as Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove," said Schacher.

That's going to take some doing because, as she said, "I'm trying to give the residents a champagne quality of life on a beer budget."

But Schacher is not easily discouraged. She intends to achieve her goal.

Not surprisingly, she has a history of achievement behind her.

BOBBIE SCHACHER

After 20 years of marriage, Schacher returned to school and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Health Service Administration from Saint Mary's College in Moraga. That seemed the natural way to go, considering her previous years experience working with young people as well as the elderly.

She helped create the Monterey Peninsula Gymnastics Club and was a head coach working with children on the balance beam and floor exercises, and established and directed the Monterey County Olympiatric Meets for nursing home residents.

"I went from one extreme to the other. Working with kids to working with people in nursing homes. Both need help," said Schacher.

Over the years she developed skills as a provider of direct nursing care, director of social service designer, activity, advertising, sales, marketing, public relations and resident services, and the list of accomplishments goes on.

New job

Schacher's position before coming to Pacific Meadows was administrative assistant at Canterbury Woods. "It was hard for me to leave Canterbury Woods, but my new job was a challenge. Affordable housing for seniors has been needed for a long time.

"A lot of people think that if you live in Carmel you are wealthy. It's not true. These people bought their homes a long time ago. I have an opportunity to be part of providing them with a nice place to live," said Schacher.

One of the keys to her tenacity comes from a story she told about an experience she had while working at Monterey Pines Nursing Home.

After a 12-hour shift, Schacher asked herself, "What am I doing?" She was tired, frustrated, and ready to give up.

Tilly, a 98-year-old resident, stopped to talk with her.

She said, "I had such a good time today. I'm looking forward to tomorrow."

Schacher realized then that if a 98-year-old person can look forward to tomorrow, then she knew she was doing her job. "It turned me around, and I decided to continue working with older people."

Her personal goal is to pursue a master's degree in her field, and work until she is 75. "I like working. I get a great deal of satisfaction when I've been able to help someone through a hardship.

"Every night when I go home, I thank God for the day, and every morning I say, help me."

'CVVIC' is formally deputized

By SUSAN BECK

ETHAN A.K.A CVVIC, the police dog purchased by Carmel Valley Village Improvement Committee (CVVIC) members, is officially deputized, and put on a show at the May 8 meeting.

The new member of the Monterey County Sheriff's Department is owned by Deputy Lance Berryman, who trained CVVIC in German.

Peter Coakley, chairman for the committee, said after the meeting that members raised $2,000 to buy the German Shepherd for the sheriff's department.

Pathways connect

Also May 8, the Pathway Committee met their goal of connecting the south east end of the village to the north west end said Coakley. The pathway extends from Rippling River to the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center on Ford Road.

"This doesn't mean we are going to stop. We encourage businesses to continue building pathways throughout the village," said Coakley.

Straw poll

CVVIC also agreed to encourage the Carmel Valley Park and Recreation District to investigate the possibility of purchasing the Porter Marquard 1.4 acre parcel adjacent to the new park in the village.

Coakley said that CVVIC member, Randy Randazzo, commented that when and if Carmel Valley is incorporated, the lot could be used to build a city hall and civic center.

"It's too controversial now, but someday it will happen," said Coakley.

MPWMD'S flexibility

would constitute a hazard. The city has indicated that it might require a full Environmental Impact Report (EIR) based on this issue.

Such a move would delay production from Paralta another six months or more, thereby extending the peninsula-wide moratorium on new connections.

One might question the motives of Seaside on the "hazardous chemicals" question, since the city has never objected to the routine use of chlorine gas, a more dangerous chemical, in water purification.

At the same time, Seaside was pursuing plans to drill an additional well some distance to the west of Paralta. It seems to many of us that Seaside's motive is to achieve more direct control over groundwater which lies beneath their area.

The mission of the MPWMD is to manage the water supplies of the water district for the mutual benefit of all the jurisdictions. Any attempt to supplant this system with more localized control would only penalize the cities and benefit the county, since most of the peninsula's water comes from Carmel Valley.

MPWMD purpose

MPWMD was set up, under State law, to manage the water resources within its boundaries, which means most of the Carmel River watershed and all of the Monterey Peninsula, excluding Marina and much of Fort Ord.

The district has authority over the various water distribution systems, the largest of which is Cal-Am. Among the small water systems, the only publicly-owned one is the Seaside Municipal System, which supplies some of that city's needs from wells in east-central Seaside.

About 15 percent of water produced within the district is from private wells, which the MPWMD does not regulate except during drought emergencies.

Based on experience of the recent drought, the district has set a limit of 16,475 acre feet per year on Cal-Am production from the Monterey Peninsula Water Resource System. The resource system consists of the Los Padres and San Clemente reservoirs, wells in the Carmel Valley aquifer, and the Seaside Coastal aquifer.

To stay on the safe side, the limit is stated in terms of "connections," assuming that each connection uses the amount of water assigned to it, either commercial or residential use. Existing connections are already 231 acre feet over that limit, creating a so-called "deficit."

Scholarship announced by CV Gem and Mineral Society

CHERODRIGUEZ of Gonzales, a student at Hartnell College in Salinas, was chosen by the Carmel Valley Gem and Mineral Society Board of Directors as the recipient of the 1991 CVGMS Scholarship Award.

Rodriguez will graduate from Hartnell this month, and is transferring to Humboldt State University in the fall to study geology.

In addition to being a full-time student, he works as a cartographic technician for the Soil Conservation Service. After graduation he plans to pursue a master's degree to teach at a state college.

The society's annual scholarship, which is intended to promote the study of mineralogy and geology, is made possible through fundraising events such as the annual CVGMS Gem & Mineral Show, held in September at the Monterey Fairgrounds, and the annual Auction in June.

Carmel Valley resident plays USTA Senior 80's semi-finals

WILL GAHAGAN of the Carmel Valley Racquet Club reached the semi-finals of the USTA National Hardcourts tennis Seniors 80's championships in Santa Barbara last week.

He lost in the doubles with his partner Bill Conel of Oceanside. After upsetting an undefeated team of Floridians, 7-5 and 6-2 in the quarter finals, they in turn were upset by a San Francisco team.

It was the first loss for Gahagan and Conel in five tournaments. The previous week they had won the La Jolla Beach & Tennis Invitational.

Gahagan and Conel planned to play again in Boise, Idaho on May 11 in the USTA National Indoors tournament.

Doris Day's Best Friends

By Doris Day

We get letters...

Q. I work all day and my cat is home alone. I leave the radio on and she can look out the window, but I know she must get bored. Do you have any suggestions for keeping her occupied?

A. The first idea that comes to mind is, to get a playmate! This is kitten season and you're sure to find a sweet little friend for her at the SPCA or through a newspaper ad. Be prepared for some initial hissing and spitting, then she'll probably assume the role of "mom" and delight in grooming and tending to the little one.

Additionally, you can provide amusement for your indoor cat with a few simple toys such as a ping-pong ball or aluminum foil ball she can knock around (NOT to be used if you also have a dog who may swallow them!), a paper grocery bag she can crawl into, or a cardboard box with cut-out holes to use as a hiding place.

Q. Every now and then my beagle, Roger, has an accident on the rug. I can't afford monthly carpet cleaning! Do you know of an effective odor remover?

A. There's a great product, I'm told, available at pet supply stores called Nature's Miracle. My co-writer swears by it. I've heard that baking soda sprinkled on your carpet helps to remove odors. Table salt is supposed to do the job, too. Sprinkle it on the carpeting, then wait a day or two and vacuum. I haven't tried these ideas myself because I don't have carpeting in my home, but what do you have to lose?

How about a free pamphlet on pet odor cleanup? Send a stamped, pre-addressed business-size envelope to Living With Pets, Coping With Odors, Church and Dwight Co., P.O. Box 7648, Princeton, New Jersey, 08543-7648.

Q. Is an altered cat necessarily a "fat cat?"

A. Not in my experience! I've found that surgically altering a cat or dog can make them seem more laid-back because their hormones aren't racing. That means it's especially important to watch your pet's diet and make sure he gets plenty of exercise.

Q. A beautiful little stray cat has been coming to my home for meals for months. I feed her twice a day but I worry where she goes at night. What can I do?

A. Funny you should ask - I have a stray kitty-cat coming to my house to feed and his name is Willy. After awhile I was able to trap him and have him altered, but I couldn't keep him indoors. He was climbing the walls and although we tried, he made it clear he did not want to be inside. So, we released him and now he lives on my property, basking in the sunshine during the day. Like you, I was worried about his safety at night so I put a large dog-sized airline carrier on my porch. The porch is covered so the carrier is completely protected from the weather. I have soft, warm blankets inside and a blanket completely covering the outside, and I happen to know that he does sleep in there. So Willy is safe and I don't have sleepless nights worrying about him.

That's all for this week. See you next time!

Carmel Architectural & Historic Survey

Celebrate Preservation Week

CITIZENS IN Carmel-by-the-Sea and the surrounding area will join thousands of individuals around the country in celebrating National Historic Preservation Week, May 10-16.

This 20th annual national celebration, whose theme is "Preservation Brings History to Life!" is co-sponsored by the Carmel Architectural & Historic Survey and the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

"Preservation Week is a time for us to bring history to life when we join together to celebrate the unique heritage and culture of our hometowns," says Jack Walter, president of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation, chartered by Congress in 1949, is a non-profit organization with 250,000 members. As the leader of the national preservation movement for more than 40 years, the National Trust is dedicated to helping Americans understand and experience their diverse heritage in authentic settings. The National Trust has seven regional offices, owns 18 historic house museums — including the Casa Amesti and the Cooper-Molera Adobe in Monterey — and works with thousands of local community groups nationwide.

Local participation

One of those community groups is the Carmel Architectural & Historic Survey, the local organization open to all volunteers, which is performing the necessary first step towards a historic preservation ordinance. As you read in last week's Pine Cone article on the architectural obliteration of the Lincoln Steffens' home, Carmel-by-the-Sea does not have a preservation ordinance.

The General Plan does contain a Historic/Cultural/Resources Element which sets forth the steps for arriving at a preservation ordinance. The first step is a survey of all existing buildings, in order to create a clear picture of the current situation, so that the ordinance can be written in the best possible way with the best information.

Surveys of this type are frequently performed by Planning Department staff, or a hired consultant. In Carmel's case, local preservation-minded citizens headed by Enid Sales volunteered to start the survey process in order to expedite the ordinance. The surveying began in 1989, and over 2,000 buildings have been surveyed.

Public can participate

Many people are surprised to discover that the city has no local preservation ordinance, or that there is very limited historic information in the city property files. Some people are frustrated by this situation. In response, the Survey Steering Committee encourages you to take action by joining in this volunteer effort, and participate in the rewarding work which will make this historic information readily accessible.

We have a need for volunteers who love to read books (or old Pine Cones on microfilm), in the library to track down references to important residents, architects or contractors. If you would like to start by researching the history of your own house, we will teach you how to go to Salinas and look up the history of your property. After that, you can decide if you wish to continue with other properties!

Brown Heads

A SILVER Cadillac convertible with fender skirts and a beat out black guitar case sticking out of the back seat pulled up to the Trampa Canyon gate in rural Cachagua. The metal security gate, permanently frozen open because the only resident of the canyon who knew how to repair it had moved to South County, was decorated with red, white and blue bunting and a sign reading, "Brown Fund Raiser."

The driver of the Caddy, a middle aged rock type in a tank top with long curly brown hair, mirror dark glasses and muscles going soft yelled back to the couple in the blue Ford Pinto and the Big Sur hippies in the faded red Subaru station wagon that had pulled up behind him.

"Spread out so we don't get all dusty."

The Pinto and Subaru followed dutifully as the driver of the Caddy and his passengers, another man, two women and a German Shepherd, sped up the washboard road blowing dust in all directions. They looked like they were on their way to a Budweiser party commercial.

Their destination was the hillside home and compound of Tor and Kathryn McPartland, the scene of a music event fund raiser for presidential candidate Jerry Brown. Brown would not be able to attend, so the draw today was Bob Weir, rhythm guitarist for the Grateful Dead.

In a recent interview in Rolling Stone Brown is quoted as saying the first records he bought were when he was a member of a classical music club and that in his opinion there is nothing more beautiful or simple than a Gregorian chant, obviously a hold-over memory from his days in the seminary. He does claim to remember "Roll Over Shakespeare" by Fats Domino. Everyone else remembers "Roll Over Beethoven" by Chuck Berry. Naturally, Jerry listened to all of Linda Ronstadt's records.

Politics aside, it should be noted here that if you're using musical preference as a criteria for choosing between Brown and Clinton, in the same Rolling Stone interview Bill Clinton talks about growing up listening to the Dorsey Brothers, Benny Goodman and the Glenn Miller Band. He knows the lyrics to most of Elvis Presley's songs and if Elvis were alive Clinton would invite him to the inauguration. He's saved the ticket stub from a Ray Charles concert for 20 years, says Marilyn Horne is his favorite classical artist and refuses to dance to Madonna's music. He idolized Stan Getz and played saxophone for many years.

Jerry Brown's lack of musical consciousness made Bob Weir's appearance at McPartland's in Cachagua incongruous to say the least. Jerry wasn't missed after his phone call from somewhere on the campaign trail exhorted those assembled that it's time to take our

There will be two mobile homes, with a hospitality deck area for players and their families, 156 lockers, laundry facilities, phones, fax machines, shoe and club cleaning and repair. Wait till the AT&T Tournament players find out.

Coast & Country

Up to now, tournament golfers had to use their hotel room or trunk of their car as their locker.

During a recent round of golf the Lone Cypress and Pebble Beach Company chief executives stepped up to the first tee of Pebble Beach Golf Links and...

Matsatsugu Takabayashi drove one straight down the middle and smiled politely as head pro R.J. Harper quietly applauded.

Tom Oliver hit a ball that barely made it past the women's tees.

Hiroshi Watanabe scored 180 yards, and more applause.

And Paul Leach wound up and hit a worm burner that dribbled into the foot-high rough.

Pebble Beach can be pretty intimidating, especially if you're playing with the boss.

'National Tourism Week helps focus our vision on an important industry that is already the third industry in Monterey County and the second largest employer in the national, after health services," said Rick Lawrence, executive vice president of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and Visitors & Convention Bureau and president of the California Travel Industry Association (CALITA), who is joining in the national recognition of the economic importance of the travel and tourism industry during the week of May 3 to 9.

"Tourism is important to the economy of the nation as a whole, and to all of us here in the Monterey Peninsula and Monterey County. According to the Chamber/VCB research report, the tourism industry in Monterey County exceeds $1.2 billion and supports over 20,000 jobs," said Lawrence.

According to the United States Travel and Tourism Administration, more than $41 million foreign visitors traveled to the USA in 1991. Their expenditures for goods and services, including passenger fares, totaled over $52.8 billion dollars. Foreign visitor expenditures also resulted in $5.5 billion dollars in U.S. tax revenues. Excluding passenger fares, foreign visitor expenditures supported an estimated 370,000 jobs.

Nationally, travel generated expenditures were estimated at over $327.3 billion in 1990. Last year travel and tourism generated nearly $43.6 billion in federal, state, and local tax revenues, which help to build our new schools and highways, and also supports many other important community services.

"Considering all of these statistics," said Lawrence, "you know why the travel and tourism industry's favorite slogan is, 'Tourism Works for America.'"

Pebble Beach Co. has announced that Mark Stilwell, currently an attorney with Hoge, Fenton, Jones & Appel of Monterey, will join the company on April 27 in the newly created position of general counsel/vice president legal affairs.

Stilwell, 37, received his undergraduate degree from Yale University, where he graduated with honors in 1978, and his law degree from George Washington University, where he graduated with highest honors in 1981. Following law school, he practiced law with the firms of Morrison & Foerster and Dinkelspiel, Donovan & Reder in San Francisco.

Stilwell moved to the Monterey Peninsula in 1989 and currently resides in Carmel Highlands. His community activities in Monterey have included the Monterey "Big Buddy" Program, the AT&T Pebble Beach Jr. Golf Program and Mozart in Monterey.

The Carmel Ski Club recently held its annual Trophy Race at Alpine Meadows, Lake Tahoe. Club members competed for individual and team scores on the slalom course.

The men's top three winners were Roger Born, first; Jim Miller, second; and John Hannigan, third.

The women's fastest trio were Judy Brooke Green, first; Sharon Raney, second; and Grace Abbett, third.

Carmel Youth Baseball

By Pat Little

Midseason's close games

PINTO DIVISION (ages 7&8): When On The Beach (OTB) and Copies By The Sea (CBTS) played Monday 5/4, Cardiff Schmitz (CBTS) whacked a home run in the 1st inning. Teammates Nick Pacitto, Andrew Dahl, and Luke Perkins all slugged long automatic doubles. Kyle Breuleux (OTB) hit a homer for his team in the 4th.

Superb hitting meant ample opportunities for the fielders to show their stuff. Kyle Lyons (CBTS) at center caught a beauty at the start of the game and stopped 2 more high flies during the 4th inning. Cardiff Schmitz (CBTS) decided nothing and no one was going to get by him, as he put 3 down all in a row at 2nd with a bold triple play. Chelsea Campbell (CBTS) stretched low for an out at 1st. For OTB, Adam Canepa gave 1st base tight protection, and Erick Carl snapped up a pop fly.

On Wednesday 5/6 Thunderbirds for Kids (TFK) met New Masters Gallery (NMG). The power hitters for TFK were Mike Oswald (triple), Taylor White (double), and Robert Jensen (5 base hits). Doubles by NMG batters Brett George and Austin Graham drove in 2 runs apiece. Matt Herbert (NMG) brought off a triple with 3 RBI, and teammate Mike Hill had 4 base hits with 1 RBI.

Greg Stutzman (NMG) put in a good day in the infield with 2 throws to 1st for 2 outs. Patrick White (NMG) caught a fly at 1st and threw to 2nd for a double play. TFK baseman Dan Ellis put runners out at 1st 2 times.

Pine Inn (PI) took on RG Burgers (RGB) Thursday 5/7. Mark Ferlito (PI) topped the hitting with 2 triples, 1 double, and 4 RBI. Kenny Kleinkopf made an unassisted double play for PI. Other PI fielders John Puccinelli caught 2 flies and Evan Smith made a tag out at 2nd. Showing RG Burger style teamwork in action was Jimmy Stoddard at rover, throwing to Max Rieser at 1st for an out. Andrew Tope at 3rd caught a fly for an out, and Megan Travaille at 3rd made a forced out.

Pine Inn (PI) faced the hard-hitting On The Beach (OTB) team on Saturday 5/9. Super OTB hitter Kyle Breuleux made his 3rd home run of the season. Adam Canepa (OTB) tripled. Batting solid base hits for PI were Alexi Connell and Rachel McFarland. PI's Brandon Calantoc made some "heads up" stops as shortstop, and OTB fielder Adam Canepa pulled off a triple play singlehanded.

On Saturday RG Burgers (RGB) and New Masters Gallery (NMG) met. Austen Aamodt doubled for NMG, and Kristin Wood doubled twice for RGB. Brett George (NMG) hit 3 times to center field for 4 RBI. RGB's Chase Montgomery made a good out at 3rd base, and Kristen Kitaji did the same at 1st. Good fielding performances were put in by Joe Stoffers (RGB), Brett George (NMG), Patrick White (NMG), Greg Stutzman (NMG), and Alex Brant (NMG).

Mustang division (ages 9&10): County Mounties (CM) beat Fourtanes (F) 6-4 on Tuesday 5/5. Leading hitters were Anthony Kamm (CM) with a double and 2 RBI, and Justin Brennan (F) with a double. It was a pitchers' duel: Taylor Schmitz (F) had a 1-2-3 inning; Corey Wood (CM) pitched 2 scoreless innings; Brent Fogg (CM) and Brett Smith (CM) both had no hitters.

That's My Boy (TMB) put on the steam at the bottom of the 5th to bring in 4 runs, but it was not enough to overtake Carmel Bay Company (CBC), which won Wednesday 5/6 with a close score of 7-6. Triple hits were produced by CBC's Justin Travaille, Jeff McGowan, and Joey Sells. CBC's Robby Wellington and Phil Borup, and TMB's Patrick Greco and Justin McChesney-Wachs had doubles. Rhett Petit (TMB) had 2-for-2 IRBI to put him with the top hitters. Patrick Greco (TMB) held CBC for 2 innings with 6 batting and 6 strikeouts. Justin McChesney-Wachs (TMB) made a terrific line drive catch for an out.

Thursday 5/7 brought together Dean Witter (DW) and Coast Teleproductions (CTP) in a 6-inning 8-8 tie. Travis Patterson (DW) had 2 doubles with 3 RBI. Tommy George (IRBI), Bobby Stoddard (IRBI) and Andrew Arthur (3-for-3) all made doubles for DW. CTP's Ross Saroyan executed a double out by catching a fly, then tagging out a runner at 2nd.

It was That's My Boy (TMB) 10 and Coast Teleproductions (CTP) 11 in another closely played game on Saturday 5/9. Top hitters were Jeff Kraft (TMB) and Keith Sames (CTP), both with doubles. Ryan Eldridge (CTP) and Rhett Petit (TMB) both went 3-for-3. Ross Saroyan (CTP) had 2-for-2, 3 RBI. Alejandro Coatu (CTP) knocked a great pop fly to center and had IRBI. Ross Saroyan (CTP) made an excellent pop fly catch, and Josh Fischbach (TMB) caught a long fly.

Sensations (S) brought in a run in the 7th to edge out Dean Witter (DW) 5-4 in an exciting, well-played, tightly scored game on Saturday. Aaron Campbell (S), Chris Foudy (DW), Travis Moran (DW), and Andrew Arthur (DW) all doubled. Sabian Ford (S), Abraham Oyler (S), and Chris Canepa (S) contributed strong hits. The game showcased the pitching strength of Bobby Stoddard (DW), Chris Canepa (S), Chris Foudy (DW), Michael Newman (DW), Aaron Campbell (S), and Jeff Stutzman (S).

Paul Huish (S) made a fabulous throw to 1st that stopped DW from tying up the game at the bottom of the 6th. Jeff Stutzman (S) caught a ball and threw to catcher Aaron Campbell to put a leading runner out at home base. The same excellent teamwork prevailed when pitcher Bobby Stoddard (DW) and catcher Tommy George put out a runner at home also.

Carmel Bay Company (CBC) made the winning run at the bottom of the 6th to take its Saturday game from Fourtanes (F) 12-11. Power hitter Kris Bonifas (F) slugged a home run with 2 RBI, and teammate Brian Orosco scored with aggressive base running for another homer. CBC's Robby Wellington made the game's winning hit with the bases loaded, and Derek Gandzjuk scored the winning run. Bronco division (ages 11&12): Derek Rayne (DR) upset Carmel Valley Disposal (CVD) 15-2 on Monday 5/4. Leading hitters were Zak Freedman (DR) with 2-for-3, 4 runs; Shyamala White with 2-for-4, 2 RBI, 1 run; and Trent Nishiguchi with 2-for-3, 1 run. Zak Freedman (DR) pitched 4 innings with no runs, 3 hits. Rob Blagg

(CVD) made his pitching debut, striking out 2 batters. Jamie Eccher (DR) hustled in left field to catch 2 high flies.

Cornucopia (C) trounced Vessey's (V) 11-4 on Tuesday 5/5 in a game called after 2 hours. Top hitters were Matt Bedell (C) with 3 RBI, Rushad Eggleston (V) 4-for-4, and Chris Crawley (V) 3-for-3. Brian Dawson (C) made a great stop on a line drive at 3rd base. Matt Bedell (C) and Alex Salmoun (V) both made great catches for 3rd outs.

Bay Bikes (BB) was bested by Carmel Valley Disposal (CVD) 14-9 on Thursday 5/7 in a game marred by players injured on fine defensive plays. Seth Duval (BB) hurt his arm with an awesome throw fired from center field to catcher Brian Boitano, who threw to Trevor Fogg at 3rd for an out. Seth had already nailed a previous runner at home from center field. Brian sustained an injury diving to make a catch at 2nd. Marcus Ortega

Father Farrell's Wisdom

You'll know you're old when all you exercise is caution

AN INDIAN maharaja who was assassinated because he delayed in liquidating his arch-rival once observed: "To walk is better than to run, to stand is better than to sit and to be dead is the best of all." He got his wish.

How much this dismal view of life we attribute to a debilitation climate of India we do not know, but Montaigne's phrase is more acceptable: "Let death take a man still planting cabbages."

Without vitality, life becomes as void of gaiety and zest as a wood where no birds sing. Oh Lord, may we always keep active working for you through our neighbors. Finally, may we remember that we've reached old age when all we exercise is caution.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

Twenty-eight people gathered at Medford, New Jersey, to take turns bungee-jumping out of a hot air balloon. Volunteering to go first was G. Stockton Strawbridge, Philadelphia civic leader and retired department store chairman. Told that a previous jumper at the site was 62, he announced: "Well, I'm 77." Said Mrs. Strawbridge: "He's been doing this kind of thing all his life and it's too late to stop him." How did it feel to dive through the air at the end of a 150-foot elastic bungee cord? "Pleasure, pure pleasure," Strawbridge said.

The National Senior Sports Classic continues to grow, thanks to increasing numbers of Americans over 55 and greater interest in exercise and sports. More than 5,000 men and women finalists competed in the 1991 Classic in Syracuse, New York, in events ranging from tennis to basketball and a 10K run. Participation is expected to double when the biennial Classic is staged in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in 1993.

(CVD) made a terrific "body block" on Brian Fogg's stinging drive down the 3rd base line, and Robbie Blagg at catcher took a tough block on a pitch.

The game's top hitter was Trevor Fogg (BB), with 4-for-4, 5 RBI, scoring Sandy Greenfield 4 times. Trent Nishiguchi (CVD) had 4 well-pitched innings (3 runs, 2 hits, 6 strikeouts). Keath Moon pitched a no-hitter for BB.

In another close encounter called after 2 hours of play, Derek Rayne produced the winning run at the bottom of the 6th to take the Saturday 5/9 game from Vessey's 8-7. Erik Langslet (DR) knocked a home run and had IRBI. Tim Deakyne (V) had a double and 2RBI. Eric Bensberg (DR) caught a fly in left field and threw to Ashwin Datt at 2nd for a double play. In another double play, DR fielder Hank Stoffers caught a deep fly and threw to Zak Freedman at home for an out.

Bay Bikes (BB) defeated Cornucopia (C) 12-2 on Saturday. Seth Duval (BB) with 2-for-3 including a double, and Trevor Fogg (BB) with 3-for-4 including 2 doubles, emerged as the game's top hitters. In center field, Seth showed tremendous range, making 3 outs.

Catcher Seth Perkins (C) held down his opponent's score by tagging out a runner at home. Erik Gilliland initiated a throw from 2nd to 1st to home for an out.

Girls' Rookie softball: Carmel Dental Group defeated the Pacific Grove Wildcats 8-4 on Tuesday 5/5. Leading hitters were Christy Olow, 2-for-3, and Angela Boyd, a nice RBI single. Christy Olow pitched 4 innings, recording 11 strikeouts. Hannah Coombe's throw from right field put out a baserunner.

On Saturday 5/9 Carmel Dental Group (CDG) once again was victorious in a close 10-9 game with the Carmel Valley Red Raiders. The game, however, had to be forfeited as an official game because CDG had only 8 players. Leading hitters were Morgan Poncelet 2-for-3, Christy Olow 2-for-4, Courtney Porter 2-for-3, Justine McMahon 2-for-2, and Sarah Robinson 2-for-3. Karen Clark had a double with 2RBI. The big defensive play of the game was made by Meghan McNeil, who fielded a hot grounder at second to make an out at first.

VOLUNTEERS

They're the lifeblood of the festival

By ANNE PAPINEAU

PURCHASE A ticket to the Carmel Bach Festival and you're paying just a fraction of its true price. Private donations and corporate support take care of the rest of the bills. But ask anyone familiar with staging this massive event year after year, and they will wisely acknowledge that it is the volunteers who keep the festival alive.

The nuts and bolts of this grand effort, from answering telephones to adjusting costume necklines, are oiled by people who do their jobs for love, not money. These unpaid staffers must weather an intriguing blend of tasks that can be mundane one day, memorable the next.

Donating time to the festival offers a chance to be sprinkled with a dash of stardust, to make new friends, and to celebrate some of the greatest music ever written. And this volunteer army always welcomes new recruits.

Some volunteers join on a whim and end up staying for years. John Pratt, at 78, describes himself as a "glutton for punishment." But he has been the person largely responsible for setting up the sound system and slide projection for the Carmel Bach Festival lecture series for 15 festivals.

"I just like to do it," says this electronic engineer. He's at the ready in case a bulb burns out in the projector or a lecturer's voice is suddenly lost in the electronic shuffle.

For the fourth year Helen Montgomery serves as chairman of the Donor Dinners, and admits to loving the job. These dinners are for substantial donors, and Montgomery employs her skills as a retired interior designer.

"These donors are so greatly loved by the festival because they allow us all to attend for a more reasonable price," she asserts.

She is responsible for 50 to 60 guests, who are served in a room off the upper patio at Carmel's Sunset Center. Montgomery's challenge is to create a lovely, welcoming setting. She is assisted by two or three helpers.

"I have some input on the menu, and we check with the caterer, Central 159. I get the flowers and arrange them for each table; this year I hope to do something

"We always need help," she admits.

This year, 35 volunteers will work successions of three-hour shifts in the office. One of the chief office jobs is providing information about the Carmel Bach Festival to callers.

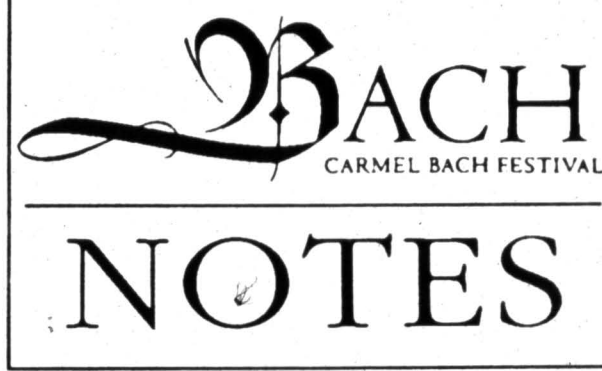

"It's a job I really enjoy. It takes a lot of time. I usually start in February. Getting sufficient numbers of people who will help is tough," she adds.

A requirement for this job is to merely be comfortable talking on the phone.

"We help people become more efficient and more comfortable. It's amazing how many people have the very best intentions but they are not at ease," Shiells explains.

To further assist the festival, she is designing a training program for the office volunteers.

"I used to sing many years ago; we retired here and I could think of nothing better than helping the festival. I do it as a gift to the community," Shiells notes. "I find the people involved are very, very pleasant, and that makes it fun to do."

Of course the festival army runs on its stomach. And refreshments in their infinite variety are also the responsibility of volunteers.

Caterina Bosio, chairman of rehearsal and performance refreshments, previously helped the festival in various ways: helping singers dress for the opera, working in the office. Now she feeds the hungry.

Bosio works a full-time job in addition to helping at the festival. Her volunteer responsibilities include purchasing food and supplies, and engaging and scheduling helpers, which number nearly 30. Also overseeing refreshments is Ferne Halgren.

"The musicians are wonderful, and the fun part is watching the delight and appreciation of hungry musicians, singers and dancers," she exclaims. "We serve them finger food, cookies and cakes, fresh fruits, dips and beverages. And we need help. We need servers and people to bring food."

Her love of music, acquired during her childhood in Florence, Italy, is the chief impetus for Bosio to augment her busy days with Bach Festival volunteer work.

"What gives me the most pleasure in life is classical music," she says. "After intermission, it was a great joy for me to go backstage and listen to some of Bach's music."

Kathryn Farr and her husband John are responsible for the white robes worn by vocalists. Her expression for the task: "Helping people to robe up."

Farr and her team go over the robes for approximately 75 singers about two weeks before the festival begins. They mend, iron and generally spruce up the collection.

"We have all the singers come to a fitting, and have to be very careful about length."

Come showtime, she admits "Sometimes it's like working with a group of children who need help. Often a soloist will say he's providing his own white bow tie, and then it's 'I forgot,'" she states.

"My husband and I love music and we love Bach. It's a very rewarding job. Not only hearing the beautiful music, but I also get to talk with many of the artists

Bay Day celebrates 113th year of little red schoolhouse

BAY SCHOOL, the little red schoolhouse on Highway 1, will celebrate its 113th Bay Day on Saturday, May 16, from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The public is invited to enjoy pony rides, children's games, face painting, food and fun for the entire family. There will also be a silent auction and bake sale.

Bay School is located on the ocean side of Highway 1, one mile south of Rio Road, Carmel. It was built in 1879 by local whalers who lived at Point Lobos and served as a one-room school for many of the area's founding families.

At the present time, it is a cooperative pre-school for 3 to 5 year olds, with an adult education program for participating parents.

All of the proceeds of this carnival go directly to Bay School for equipment, supplies and educational outings.

For information call 624-4397.

Tour opens artists' studios to public

ARTISTS EQUITY, Central Coast Chapter, will present its fourth annual Artists' Studio Tour '92, Saturday and Sunday, May 16-17 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Artists Studio Tour is a self-guided event, offering the public a unique opportunity to visit artists in their studios.

Pacific Grove Art Center will have a concurrent exhibition of one piece of work by each artist on the tour through June 5.

Valley Art Gallery in Salinas will also be showing works of participating Salinas artists through May 26.

$12 admits two people both days and includes a map/catalog illustrated with photographs of work by each artist that serves as guidebook and admission to the studios. Map/catalogs will be available through local bookstores and merchants supportive of the arts.

For further information, call 625-4175.

Barnyard's art and wine fest is Saturday

THIS YEAR'S springtime celebration at The Barnyard, the third annual Art & Wine Festival, is set for Saturday, May 16 from noon until 5 p.m., and features country music and an array of art by members of the Carmel Art Association.

The art of Bill Stone, Helen Barker, Carole Minou, John Cunningham, Virginia Fry and Phil Thorngate, to name a few, will grace the shop interiors best suited to the artist's style. Some of the artists will be in attendance.

In addition, to exhibit the art of winemaking in Monterey County, wines from Mirassou, J. Lohr, Lockwood Vineyard, Chateau Julian, Jekel and Monterey Vineyards will be available for tasting during the festival. An engraved souvenir wine glass is available with a $5 donation. All donations go to the Carmel Art Association.

The music of Strictly Country and Michael Noonan and his Sidekick will fill The Barnyard. For more information, contact Beth Peerless at 624-8886.

-- Helen Montgomery

really fun, but I'm not ready to reveal what that will be," she says.

One year she used grapes instead of flowers, which proved a hit.

"We have hungry musicians and the grapes got all eaten up," she recalls.

Last year, a Mozartean theme was carried out, with each table decorated in a Viennese style with pearl opera glasses, long kid gloves and other accoutrements.

"Most Americans are bubbling over with good ideas," Montgomery observes. "Even my granddaughter came up with a good idea this year. It's a joy. Why do we volunteer? We love the thing we're volunteering for, you get to know people you never met before, and you become great friends. And the musicians are full of stories, all the places they've been and sometimes the amazing things they've had to work around."

Adele Shiells can rely on her background as supervisor for a probation department to help her lead the Carmel Bach Festival office volunteers.

Music Corner

By Nathalie Plotkin

Imaginative and rewarding

THE ANNUAL spring flowering of choral music we have been offered in the Carmel Mission, came to an enjoyable ending Saturday night with an imaginative, rewardingly different program, such as we have learned to expect from the Camerata Singers of Monterey County under the direction of Dr. Vahe Aslanian.

Seldom-heard treasures

"Flos Campi" (The Flowers of the Field) a work of great originality of concept by the English composer Ralph Vaughan Williams, is a seldom heard treasure, mostly because of its unusual performance requirements. It is ordinarily counted as a choral work even though the voices sing wordless parts but they however are really treated as instruments, who, along with a chamber orchestra, form a background for a viola soloist.

Thus the work must be appreciated as a lyric instrumental concerto-suite in six movements. Each one is headed by a quotation from the "Song of Solomon." Michael Nowak, better known hereabouts as an excellent conductor, was the sterling viola soloist whose large, warm-toned projection and great musical sensitivity made most meaningful statements over the passionate utterances of the chorus and orchestra. The composer makes masterful use of his forces and his intentions were ably stated under Aslanian's leadership.

Expressive intensity

Both the soloist and the voices sing with accents full of expressive intensity. The viola cadenzas, though brief, were very effective in their thoughtful musings and the occasional flights of technical brilliance. There were some delightful stylistic touches expanding the textual references. A Near-Eastern sounding march spiced with cymbals and plucked strings, was flavorful and very skillfully rendered. "Flos Campi" is a work I would love to hear again and soon.

Youthful sparkle

As a light-hearted contrast to the preceding 20th century delights of "Flos Campi", Mozart's youthful work (he was 17 when he composed it), the motet "Exultate, Jubilate" K. 175 was performed. It is a sparkling, Italianate exercise in coloratura vocal technique, requiring a voice with a large range.

Soprano Yolanda West was the talented and valiant protagonist who had to fight a coarse, unrefined and overpowering orchestra which tended to drown her lower notes. In this respect Aslanian was remiss in his conducting. Ms. West sang with agility and refinement in the bravura/coloratura passages and floated lovely tone in her upper register. Her voice is still developing and it will be interesting to follow her progress.

Eloquent restraint

Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" is a beautiful composition and should be programmed more often. Its serene character and aristocratic musical elegance are in finely drawn proportions full of taste and eloquent restraint. The Camerata singers displayed a great affinity for the music, as did the vocal soloists. Happily the orchestra redeemed itself by playing with care, attentiveness, good tone and with discipline.

The "Introit" was expressive as the attentive chorus delivered mellow-toned statements with great assurance. The a cappella singing during the "Offertory" conveyed the aura of Gregorian Chant and was sympathetically expressed in sensitively tender tones.

Outstanding soloists

Baritone David Cox, one of the best soloists we've heard here lately sang the "Hostias" with well sustained, mellow expressiveness. His singing of the "Libera Me" was delivered with almost operatic polish and the stars. And the staff is so delightful to work with," Farr adds.

Joan Hull serves as chairman of the mission robes, those distinctive red velvet robes that add to the magic of the mission concerts on Wednesdays. Her husband, James Hull, coordinates the robes with her. His role is a tribute to the longevity of several festival participants. He joined the chorale 26 years ago.

"Volunteering allows an alliance with the festival," he explains. "Speaking from past experience, there is a great feeling of family. We really are interested and care about those involved like an extended family. That was something that I know was consciously considered by the Salgos (former Festival Music Director and Con-and a sense of authority.

Soprano Yolanda West was outstanding as she sang the exquisite "Pie Jesu" with an exalted simplicity and pure, shining tone. There was a well conceived unity of forces here. The concluding "Paradisium" chorus with its flute-like women's voices floating over a gentle accompaniment was another elegantly expressive and refined utterance.

There was a sense of devotion and involvement projected by the chorus, who in his work gave one of the finest performances I have heard from them to date.

Vague yearnings

AS PROMISED last week, an in-depth interview with former peninsula musician Max Vague, who will be making his first public appearance here after eight years in Los Angeles, follows, but before that, a little bit of business (Max Vague's feature is on page 31):

UPCOMING EVENTS with a musical bent on the Monterey Peninsula and outlying areas:

- Windham Hill artists The Modern Mandolin Quartet, solo pianist Phil Aaberg and pianist Barbara Higbie will perform together for the first time in a fund-raiser for Carmel schools (FOCUS) and the Rancho San Carlos Foundation, Sunday afternoon, May 17 at the historic Rancho San Carlos Hacienda in Carmel Valley. For tickets call 626-8200 or 375-1747.

GATEMOUTH BROWN

featuring The Lumzy Sisters of Columbia, Miss. and Rev. Curtis Watson & the Soul Messengers of Jackson, Miss., 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 14 at the Monterey Church of Religious Science at 400 W. Franklin St. in Monterey, the perfect spot for a spirited gospel show.

The sisters' Caught Up recording hit gold on the gospel charts and the sisters themselves were named top gospel recording artists two years in a row.

Tickets are $10 in advance, $12 at the door (children 6-12, $5 at the door), and are available at Window Book Store and Monterey Bible Book Store in Monterey, Bookworks in PG, and Emmanuel Bible Store in Seaside.

For more info on this show, emceed by Melvin Williams, call 899-3950.

- Shanty Malone's features the return of harmonica master Norton Buffalo and his band The Knockouts for a show Friday, May 15. You may recall that last time he was set to play Shanty's, Buffalo and his band's bus broke down and he was two hours late for the show. He did finally arrive and played a great set to the crowd that was left, but to make up for the delay, he's coming back.

Now touring with the Steve Miller Band (with whom he's played for the past several years), Norton Buffalo has been a mainstay on the Bay Area music scene, working mainly out of his Sonoma County home. He's currently featured in a video with slide guitarist Roy Rogers (with whom he's played and recorded with) on the tune Aint No Bread in the Bread Box.

Local reggae band Jonah & the Whale Watchers also return for a show Saturday night, May 16 at 9 p.m. They'll be playing roots reggae all night long.

For info on Shanty Malone's shows, call 626-0604.

- Doc Ricketts' Lab on Cannery Row has for Tuesday, May 19 English blues-rockers Foghat, which at one time was one of my favorite bands. Like a lot of English blues bands, Foghat "refined" their sound for a rock audience with each recording. The fact that they're playing Doc Ricketts' Lab (and other smaller venues), may mean they haven't had a hit record in a while, but the music still cooks. Let's hope they return to some of their grungy blues roots for this appearance.

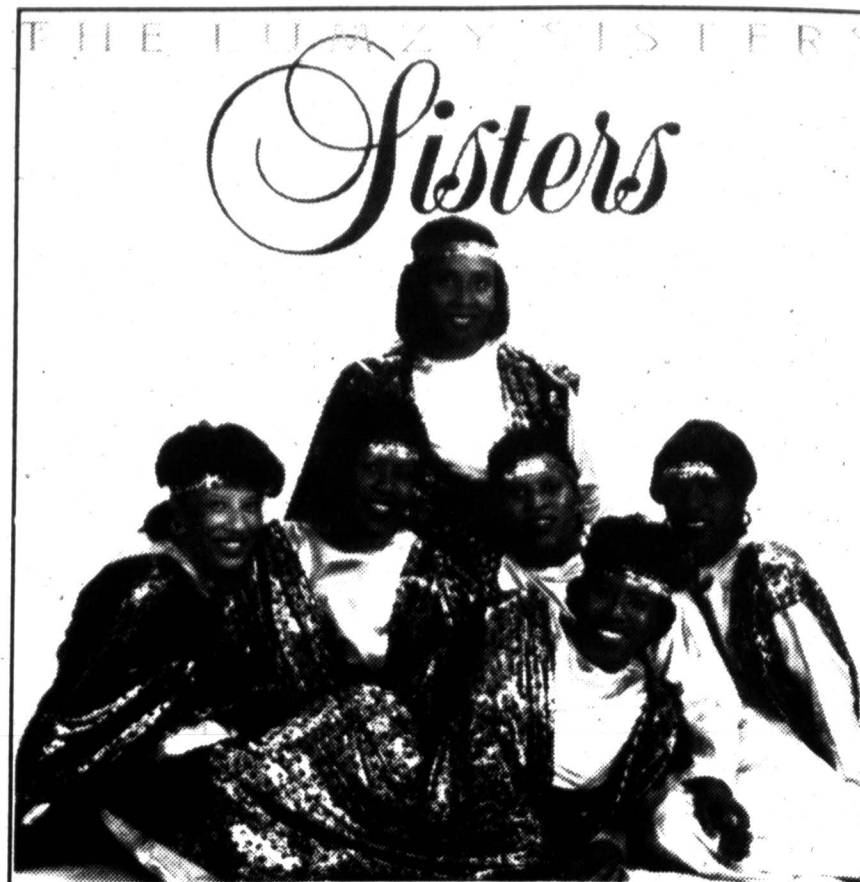

The night after that, May 20, Texas bluesman Clarence "Gatemouth" Brown plays Doc's.

Gatemouth is touring and touting his new recording No Looking Back on the blues Alligator label. His last recording on Alligator, Standing My Ground, received a 1990 Grammy nomination for Best Traditional Blues recording. Gatemouth is not only a multi-instrumentalist (he plays guitar, violin, harmonica, piano, mandolin, viola and drums), he sings and performs a variety of styles, from Texas blues, to Big Band swing, to bluegrass, zydeco, Cajun, and calypso. No Looking Back features five originals and six covers, as well as a duet with alternative folk-rockers Michelle Shocked. To illustrate Gate's versatility, just listen to his album Makin' Music (yes, that Roy Clark, from Hee-Haw), a surprisingly strong and swinging album. Gate just does it all.

THE LUMZY SISTERS

Info on all shows at Doc Ricketts' Lab can be had by calling 649-4241.

- Portofino Cafe in PG will feature the return of guitar virtuoso Preston Reed, a performer who defies easy categorization, at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 14 ($10 cover).

Often compared to guitar heroes such as Pat Metheny and Leo Kottke, Reed nevertheless evokes his own praise: "Reed weaves tapestries of sound with his incredible arsenal of hammer-ons, percussive taps, neck slaps and whatnot," says one reviewer, while another adds: "By the time you realize that Reed's solo acoustic guitar playing is far too harmonically sophisticated for folk music, too contemplative for country music, too folksy for jazz and far too witty and substantial for New Age music, you might miss out on both the loveliness of what he does and the utterly phenomenal technique."

On Friday, May 15, Portofino features acoustic duo disappear fear, whose striking harmonies and evocative lyrics have elicited comments from reviewers such as: "df shows talent to follow in the gold and platinum footsteps of Suzanne Vega, Tracy Chapman and the Indigo Girls," and "crystalline voices, mesmerizing folk-pop."

Sisters Sonia and Cindy Frank make up disappear fear, and their show is set for 8 p.m. with an $8 cover.

For Saturday, May 16, Portofino has The Red, White and Blues Band, featuring Randy Reuter, Mike Fields, Don Turner and Joe McCarley. Show's at 8, cover's $5.

The beat continues on Monday, May 18 as drummer David Shiffman of North Star, leads "An Evening of Celebration," for drummers and dancers, an extension of

There's nothing vague about this musician except his name

DESPITE HIS name there's nothing nebulous or ambiguous about Max Vague's feelings about the world and its inhabitants on his new recording Love in a Thousand Faces.

"This (recording) is an individual statement and diary of my life," he said during a recent phone conversation from his home in Los Angeles. "It's scary to have people 'read' my diary, but basically I'm just telling everyone how I feel about life."

Vague then recounts a famous retort from Bob Dylan, who chided fans who felt they knew him simply by reading his lyrics.

"I'm almost the opposite, if you dig into the lyrics, you will know me," he said candidly. "There's a raw truth to it. Everything had to be true, even the fictional songs are rooted in reality, although they had to be written in a kind of code."

Vague, grudgingly, was "promoting" his upcoming return to the peninsula after eight years in LA looking for an appropriate outlet for his muse.

"I love talking about my music, but I don't like promoting it," he admitted. "But I want people in my hometown to know what I've been doing for the past eight years; to get people aware of me again."

With that in mind Vague and friends will perform Friday, May 15 at 6:30 p.m. at Recycled Records, where he'll also sign his new CD, as well as later that night (at 9), opening for Norton Buffalo at Shanty Malone's. He'll also appear on his friend's Cary's Combo radio show on KAZU 90.3-FM on Saturday, May 16 at 6 p.m. He may even show up later that night at Shanty's when Cary plays with his band, Jonah & the Whale Watchers.

Vague says that he, along with mates Michael Bondelli and Mitchell Sigman, will do an MTV Unplugged-style show with three acoustic guitars, playing selections from the new recording.

The expressive singer-songwriter grew up on the peninsula and played in a couple of rock bands, including The Freeze, which featured the guitar playing of a youthful Jason Slate, now with the Young Presidents. He left for LA seeking greener pastures for his songs. LA being what it is (everyone seems to either be an out-of-work actor, artist or musician), Vague decided to produce his own recording.

"I realized I had been waiting for some record company to validate my existence," he said about the long process to a recording he could take to heart. "I got tired of it. I'm a driven, almost obsessed person about my music. I wanted to do it according to my rules. I'm not 18 years old anymore. I'm not going to sell my soul for this."

With Love in a Thousand Faces, Vague not only exorcised a few demons, but proved to himself he could play the game on his own terms and come up with a strong recording.

"It was very much therapeutic, it was a release for me. If I weren't writing songs, I'd probably be in therapy every day," Vague says about Love, which includes a diverse selection of songs, including ones dealing with his father's death, the hypocrisy of modern life, strength and survival, a jab at the cynical rock press, and, of course, love. "There are a lot of heavy issues on this recording; it's a real departure for me."

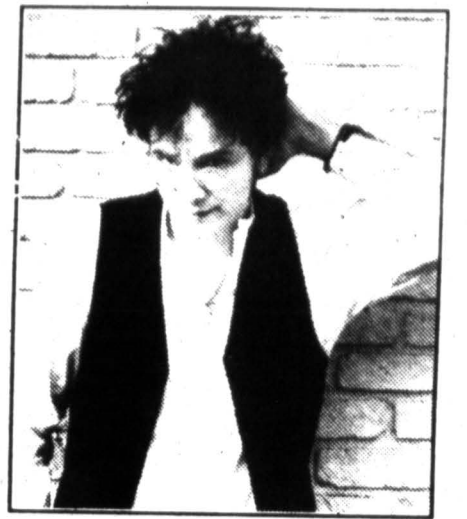

Although Vague himself doesn't like to talk about influences, just a cursory listen to the CD evokes memories of The Beatles, David Bowie, and a variety of English techno-synth bands (Ultravox, Howard Jones, etc.), but like a lot of vibrant songwriters, Vague's music has an individuality that makes influences just that, influential, but not integral to the overall sound.

There are several potent songs on the recording, not only in emotional or lyrical content, but in musical verve, from the drum-driven Tall Glasses to the John Lennon-ish There's a Place and the almost prophetic In One Room. (The CD is available exclusively at Recycled Records in New Monterey.)

With his appearance here Vague aspires to get peninsula audiences on what he hopes will be a bandwagon, so to speak.

"We're trying to create a little buzz, and hopefully it will spread."

MAX VAGUE

Soaring Stock

PAPAJAKE Stock, 81-year-old sax man, will play the 35th annual Monterey Jazz Festival in September on the out-of-arena "grounds admission" slate. Pop said he got the call from incoming MJF general manager Tim Jackson, whose confirmation showed that Tim has a respectful sense of history.

When the first fest was taking shape (1958), Jake's fans lobbied hard. And so the Stock band — with visiting cornet master Pete Dailey — was the first-ever main stage aggregation at MJF.

"He got there at the very beginning," Tim said with a smile in his voice. "It's only appropriate that Jake should take an active part in the final festival of (retiring GM) Jimmy Lyons."

Jake likely will work with his usual crew: Jackie Coon, Ed Erickson, Buddy Jones, other Abalone Stompers. (Let it be noted that the late Grace Stock, mother of the nine Stock offspring, was the fest's first solo pianist. She worked the Friday evening intermission. MC Dizzy Gillespie was delighted over this trad musician's advanced harmonics and ability to swing.)

AT THE same time, fest spokesperson Paul Fingerote reminds that entries still are being taken for MJF/35's major retrospective photo exhibit.

The April 30 deadline applied only to the Jazz Festival Collector's Edition magazine. Submissions for the fairgrounds show — "a hall will be set aside with photographs displayed in an informal coffee house atmosphere" — may be sent along through July.

"Judges desire pictures that capture the high spirit of the festival," Paul says. "Photos can be black/white or color and of any size."

Each photo should be mounted on a 16"x20" white board, the entrant's name, address and phone number listed clearly on the back. Limit: five photos apiece. Include a self-addressed stamped envelope.

And, oh yes, the address — Monterey Jazz Festival

Photos, PO Box JAZZ, Monterey 93942.

SEASIDE CITY Council passed a resolution congratulating Tanya Darby, Seaside resident and Monterey High student who recently won a trumpet slot in the MJF High School All-Star Big Band. That crew works the Sunday afternoon arena show each year — and tours Japan under fest auspices.

Tanya's proud father is none other than Mannie Darby, extremely popular Carmel postal worker. When Mannie moved from the downtown office to the Via Nona Marie outpost a couple of years ago, locals threw him a big party.

SUPER SUNDAY: The menu of May 17 comes off as rich indeed —

- Monterey Peninsula College Jazz Ensemble and Pacific Grove High School Jazz Band will share the stage at an afternoon jazz concert which starts at four o'clock in MPC Music Hall. Public freebie.

- Don Schamber directs the college unit. Music teacher Steve Clickard oversees that PG bunch of cooks.

- One of this writer's favorite vocalists — Kitty Margolis — will be the guest artist for the Afternoon Jazz Series at Doc Ricketts' Lab near Cannery Row. These gigs run from two o'clock until six; $3 door charge.

Kitty's musicianship and fine spirit draw respect from players who normally don't like singers all that well. She'll be supported by the quartet of reedman and series booker John Cortes.

- Soquel's Chardonnay Winery kicks off another of its jazz programs at 1:30 that afternoon. Celebrating her new CD, vocalist Madeline Eastman will appear with Richie Cole, Dick Hindman, Vince Lateano, Seward McCain.

The $23 non-profit contribution includes a gourmet buffet and various beverages. Call John Knipe at 1-476-7232 for directions.

- Jazz flutist Ali Ryerson will be part of the 10th birthday party which KBOQ (KBach) Radio is throwing for itself at Carmel Valley's community park Sunday afternoon. Organizer Laura Cardinale says the Ryerson set will start about two o'clock.

This's your chance to say goodbye. Ali leaves her Valley digs the next day for Connecticut, where her brother is opening a jazz club. The move will facilitate New York recording sessions (her three-year contract with Sony and producer Bob Thiele has five more albums to go).

"I'll really miss this area and the wonderful people," Ryerson says. "But I'll be back — in August for a Monterey Plaza Hotel gig and in September. Tim Jackson called, and I'll be at Monterey Jazz Festival."

I'm delighted about it."

When Ali played Doc Ricketts' a couple of weeks ago, she accepted this column's friendly dare and tackled standards (as opposed to the originals on her new CD). Familiar material's the true test of musical imagination. Well, she went out on the bebop edge, taking more chances than usual, pleasing the goodly crowd. I felt proud of her willingness to risk.

God be with you, Ali Ryerson.

- As usual, guitarist Joe Lucido's gang offers no-cost jazz sets at Portofino Coffee House in Pacific Grove.

OTHER BOOKINGS at Portofino include the Red, White and Blues Band on Saturday night (5/16). Just $5 per.

On Monday night (5/18), David Shiffman will present Spirit of the Drum (7:30 start and $5). Vocalist Lauri Hofer will offer an evening of originals (Thursday 5/21) — eight o'clock kick and $6.

Don't forget the Third Thursday Jazz Concerts produced by Nick Williams for Carmel Recreation Department at Vista Lobos Park (indoors). These begin at 7 p.m. Call 626-9151 for personnel and other data.

Bassist Mike Formanek leads his excellent quintet into Kuumbwa Jazz Center of Santa Cruz on Monday night (5/18). Eight o'clock; $11 advance (Ticketmaster) or $13 at the door.

The great Texas bluesman Clarence (Gatemouth) Brown plays Doc Ricketts' on Wednesday night (5/20). Tickets cost $10 apiece. Info: 649-4241.

Brazilian percussionist Helcio Milito now works Wednesday through Saturday nights at Traps Lounge of Spanish Bay (adding an evening). His partner: creative keyboardist Weber Drummond.

Monterey County Jazz Orchestra now may be heard at The Firehouse (downtown Monterey) on Monday nights. Upstairs.

Major lineup

CANNERY ROW'S rich spirit still grabs visitors from all over the world. And imaginative locals too.

That's where the National Writers Union (Local 7) will hold its second annual Writer-to-Writer Retreat on Saturday, June 6.

Co-chairpersons Barbara March and Deborah Johansen make clear in announcing event components that no horses have been spared in creating an event of mood value and vast practicality.

"This year," Barbara says, "we've pulled from the regional pool of successful writers - Carmel, Monterey, Santa Cruz, so on. They'll be offering pragmatic advice on how to get published. Talks won't be about styles and techniques; there'll be no review of manuscripts. We're addressing the bottom line: how to sell the work. Toward this end, we've called on some wise and experienced voices. Anyone who wishes to take part is more than welcome."

JOHN STEINBECK

Plenty of atmosphere

Sessions will be held at Kalisa's Restaurant and Coffee House (the former La Ida bordello celebrated by John Steinbeck's prose). The stated theme - Cannery Row Revisited - couldn't be clearer.

There'll be panels on Steinbeck by those who knew him, pros talking about their craft, continental breakfast, buffet luncheon, wine and cheese reception, "behind-the-scenes" tour of the famed Ed Ricketts Lab. Costs seem modest enough - $60 per (National Writers Union members) and $75 (non-members). Call Barbara at 659-4536 or Deborah at 659-0632 to secure your place.

Expert panelists will focus on Screenwriting, Poetry, Public Relations and Writing for Children. Check out this gathering of sources:

Screenwriting - Richard Outten's credits include Pet Sematary 2 and Little Nemo (both arriving at theaters in August); he now has other projects with Warner and Disney. Guy Riedel, eight-year film exec, helmed Pacific Western Productions when it brought out Terminator 2. "Richard will take retreat participants through the various corporate levels," Barbara says. "This is real stuff - how to play the game with studio chiefs."

PR expertise

Public Relations - Karen Hunter (overseeing the 1992 U.S. Open at Pebble Beach). Ray March (chief editor at the Carmel Pine Cone and Pacific Grove Monarch and golf/travel columnist and National Book Award nominee). Susan Heinlein (PR and marketing communications for multiple corporations in the high-tech community).

Poetry - Maude Mehan, Morton Marcus, Charles Atkinson. All are much-published poets with prizes, readings and teaching in their work histories. Highly recommended.

Writing for Children - Wow. Shirley Holt, Steve Wiesinger, Leslie Tryon. Again, peer approval all over the place. Steve, for example, had two titles picked up as Book of the Month Club choices.

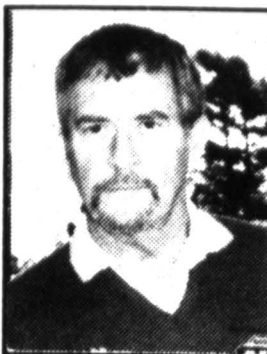

As if all that weren't enough, a near-mythical pair - Bruce and Jean Ariss - will share anecdotes about Steinbeck as they give that insider's tour of the Ricketts Lab.

Writer Jean and visual artist Bruce (they're married) went with John and Ed on travels through Mexico. They were part of the Cannery Row bohemian scene - and really know things withheld from Steinbeck biographers. (Ask them why Ricketts called Carol Steinbeck, the author's first wife and no-holds-barred editor, "the backbone of John's best work.")

"If I weren't involved in this," Barbara chuckles, "I'd certainly attend anyway. It's an unbeatable format - writers talking to writers about the nuts and bolts of the business."

A word to the wise - registration's limited. Checks may be sent to the National Writers Union c/o PO Box 353, Carmel Valley 93924

Zanzibar Rap

WENT TO see a play about a family trip/ it started out real but it ended up flip/ A mother and a father one boy one girl/ heading out of New York in a noisy whirl/

Taos New Mex was their destination/ 2,000 miles cross our great big nation/ Goes on about the people met along the way/ the places and the wonders they encountered each day/

The son name of Turner had this powerful yearning/ to reveal to his family that the world was turning/ He heard the earth's motor and he grokked on each star/ and suggested that they might be nearing Zanzibar/

Back home I checked my Atlas and (excuse this tiny boast)/ confirmed it was an island off the African coast/ Concluded that the playwright name of Tina Howe/ Was suggesting that the world's all connected somehow/ It's a play about Mystery a play about Wonder/ A play to tear assumptions of what's real asunder/

It's a play about Youth and Surprises and Dying/ It's kinda like that book about Fear of Flying/

It shows the life we take for granted's full of magical things/ like old ladies' dying and butterflies' wings/ Of new babies crying and strange monsters roaring/ of discovering love (as opposed to just scoring)/

Ms. Howe gives hints in names that flow from her pen/ like "Pony" and "Dalia" and "Dr. Sybil Wren"/ The families are The Blossoms, The Childs, The St. Johns/ A proper lady called "Palace" a burbling dad "Randy Wands"/

Hey the acting's quite good the lights and sound are great/ the set's a Chinese laundry in tumescent state/ But then I was forewarned (this I'll swear by any star)/ When the director whispered to me, "This play is BIZARRE!!/

(Editor's note: the author felt because of the nature of this particular production, it would be better served by a completely different approach to the traditional review.)

L.A. . . . It ain't over

LA HAS come out of a coma (Neptune and so has George Bush (Neptune in his 12th), and also the U.S.

Let me explain. This all began during the 1850's when Los Angeles was the "most" lawless city in the land. Does anyone remember their history? IN 1871 anti-Chinese sentiments erupted in the lynching of 19 Orientals. Did you know that?

It would seem to me that the largest city in the world (Jupiter in the first, now being conjunct by T. Pluto), would have to be the prototype for the changes taking

THE DAVINCI Quartet will be featured at the Fridays at 8 music series on Friday, May 15 at Hidden Valley in Carmel Valley Village.

DaVinci Quartet to perform in Fridays at 8 series

HIDDEN VALLEY'S Fridays at 8 Series will feature the DaVinci Quartet on Friday, May 15 at 8 p.m. with a program that will include Beethoven's Quartet in E Flat Major, Opus 127, Ravel's String Quartet and Amy Beach's recent Quartet for Strings.

For 12 years, the DaVinci Quartet has performed together, beginning under sponsorship of the Fine Arts Quartet and culminating with their recent prize in the 1991 Dmitri Shostakovich International String Quartet Competition, held in Saint Petersburg, Russia.

As Artists in Residence at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs, the DaVinci Quartet has received many awards and grants, including sponsorship by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Their repertoire ranges from quartets of the classical period, including the complete quartets of Beethoven, to 20th-century masterpieces of Bartok, Berg, Debussy and Ravel. In addition, they have championed works of both women and modern composers such as John Harbison, Alfred Schnittke and Fanny Mendelssohn.

Hidden Valley is located 11.2 miles east of Highway 1 on Carmel Valley Road. Proceeds from this concert benefit the youth programs of Hidden Valley. Tickets are $12.50 and are available at the door or by reservation. For further information or reservations, call 659-3115.

Pianist Lortie to perform with county symphony

PIANIST LOUIS Lortie joins the Monterey County Symphony to perform Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Concerto No. 24 in C minor for Piano and Orchestra at the final concert in the symphony's 46th season. Maestro Clark Suttle has expanded the size of the orchestra to present Gustav Mahler's First Symphony in D Major, known as the "Titan."

This concert, underwritten, in part, by Stahl Motor Company, will be presented Sunday, May 17, 3 p.m. and repeated Monday, May 18, 8 p.m., with a third performance at Sherwood Hall, Salinas on Tuesday, May 19, 8 p.m.

place (T. Uranus-Neptune conjunct in Capricorn) on the planet.

The 1960's were unkind to L.A. There was the Bel Air fire in November 1961 and two years later the Baldwin Hills Dam burst. The next-to-the-most-recent hair-raising match of recent riots was Watts (August 1965), when the neighborhood slid into hell and erupted in flames (MC conjunct Pluto), followed by winter monsoon rains in 1968-69 causing many homes to tumble into a Black Hole of despair. Then the 1970's brought L.A. another earthquake. To my way of thinking, earthquakes are always followed by a "shift in cosmic consciousness" in the California people.

And now, the early '90's has brought L.A. the experience of yet another shock treatment. It was one of the most materialistic cities in the country (Sun in Virgo trine Mars in Capricorn), and it's not all that laid-back with a Libra Rising, and Aries on the seventh house cusp.

Deception surfaced because the ruler of the Ascendant (Libra) is in the 12th house of Neptune in Libra.. "the spiritual wake up call." That compounded with George Bush's Neptune in the 12th in his natal chart

A pre-concert lecture will be hosted by KBOQ 92.7 FM personality David Wittrock, Sunday, 2:15 p.m. in the Bingham Room, Sunset Center.

Dorothy Fitzgerald's works featured in Zantman exhibit

DOROTHY FITZGERALD traces her long and successful career as a self-taught painter to the experiences of her earliest years: "I began to draw when I was 3 years old, and all I ever wanted to do was to be an artist. I could not not paint!"

A reception for Fitzgerald will be held on Saturday, May 16 from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Zantman Art Galleries, Sixth and Mission Street, Carmel.

As a young artist, she says she visited the major museums in the U.S. and came away captivated by the 17th-century Baroque still-life paintings. With these as her models, Fitzgerald has developed a richly luminous style, in which textured, highlighted objects seem to emerge from a soft, dark background.

The objects she chooses to paint — Native American artifacts, antique "objects d'art," musical instruments — are borrowed from friends, family, antique stores and museums. As significant historical pieces, they impart a special dimension to her work.

Dorothy Fitzgerald was born in Colorado. For many years she has given classes and workshops in Northern California. She began showing her paintings at the Zantman Art Galleries in the early 1970s.

Style can be found in art and hair in this salon/gallery

THE RECENTLY opened Hairpin Alley on San Carlos at Eighth is both an art showcase and a hair salon.

"Beauty and art go hand in hand here," said Joan Artz, whose third-career show hangs on the walls of Hairpin Alley. I felt happy and joyful working on these monoprints; and they seem to fit so well in this setting."

Monoprinting is actually the simplest form of printmaking, and yet when the viewer studies the works, they do not seem simple at all. The colors are poignant and weathered, and there is strength in the compositions.

The various subjects include "The Girls at Large," "Waitless," "Bedrock."

Charlene Durby, owner and artist, changes her shows every two months, offering local artists the opportunity to showcase their works. For more information call Durby at 624-1330.

Storytelling ballet features Dance Center students

HIDDEN VALLEY Dance Center announces its production of The Elephant's Child, a storytelling ballet. This humorous story by Rudyard Kipling has been choreographed by Fran Spector to the music of Bobby McFerrin.

Sixty students, ages 3 through adult, from the ballet division of the Dance Center perform in a one-hour production.

Performances will be in the Hidden Valley Theater, Carmel Valley Road at Ford Road in Carmel Valley Village, on May 14 at 7:30 p.m., May 16 at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m., and May 17 at 2:30 p.m. Tickets cost $10 for adults and $8 for children 12 and younger. For tickets and information call 659-3115.

would evoke a definite response of the people this past week, as in, "what the hell is he doing here?" And George's expression is so typical of Neptune in the 12th — total surprise that this could be happening to "his country" (His Neptune in Leo, the little dictator).

Total anesthesia

Through much research, I've found that Neptune in the 12th offers two possibilities: to be totally anesthetized to truth and reality or to be totally spiritually tuned in. The time is NOW for an inner spiritual search. Enough neurotic preoccupation with materialism, mental confusion and withdrawal from reality.

People like George Bush have no concept of what's going on (Neptune in the 12th). George never got an eviction notice, he's never had to worry about whether or not his mortgage payment was late, or the worst nightmare of foreclosure was in his future, with a Grand Trine to Air, the man is literally out to lunch! And his Mercury in Taurus square his Mars in Aquarius means his thinking operates on two speeds, fast and stop.

The greatest security an astrologer has is in her/his predictions that are reliable through cycles and patterns from natal charts. We get paid for our "judgment," which is an art form and based on the number of accurate charts we work on as well as accuracy of timing for clients, i.e. events in their lives.

Pluto is presently transiting L.A.'s first house, transformation through upheaval, and now with Pluto also conjunct its Jupiter in 21 degrees-Scorpio (its first house), definitely totals up a rather large bill in damages in its Plutonian experience of the I AM, first house principle. With the present Uranus-Neptune conjunction now taking place, it will bring about important changes in government and business power structures. If I were you, I'd keep an eye on Sacramento, for it has the same chart (outer cusps), as L.A.

New foundations

New foundations will be built on the old ruins, just like the Legend of the Phoenix, and in order to completely release the past, the L.A. riots were a karmic debt paid, a summing up of the Pisces Age (Neptune). "Hello, the lights are on, but nobody's home."

We're getting ready for the entrance of the Aquarius Age (Uranus ruled), where new forms of government and politics will be taking place and spiritual transformation about to take place as Pluto enters the sign of Sagittarius on Jan. 17, 1995. Uranus enters Aquarius on April 2, 1995 and spiritual awakening, followed by beloved Neptune entering Aquarius on Jan. 29, 1998 saying, "I'm here."

Out of suffering (Sun in Virgo square Saturn in Sagittarius in the L.A. chart) is going to come spiritual responsibility and discipline. The once rich and powerful no longer can afford the absence of spirituality (Neptune) in their lives, and in order to survive they will be forced to look at events like the L.A. riots and to incorporate spirituality into their lives.

We don't have a whole lot of time left on the planet to make these changes. Pluto has moved inside the planet Neptune, which is now the last planet, and everyone's karma has speeded up. Some will stay, to clean up and begin again, while others will choose as they have always chosen, to leave the planet, over the next 3-5 years.

Uranus-Neptune conjunctions take place approximately every 171 years and are always a major spiritual breakthrough for humanity. Therefore, L.A. is the spiritual connection in the '90's, and it ain't over!

Neptune's subtle effect is quite powerful, like getting hit with an invisible truck. New kinds of consciousness, high vs. low, it rules any mind-altering drugs, which equals dependence (no more denial); mind-escaping from everyday realities is no longer possible. How many drug-tripping people are dead, but still walking around like robots? We've been asleep (Neptune). Thank you L.A., you woke us up from a coma.

Extreme inner conflict

As for leader George Bush, with T. Saturn opposing his Neptune, it's a time of extreme inner conflict, which has obviously undermined his effectiveness, and I'll bet money that he will be looking at the way he has structured his "own" life, as in unrealistic, and is now feeling guilt, remorse, unfulfilled responsibilities, depression and self-doubt, all characteristics of Neptune.

Not only will L.A. leave him extremely disoriented, but he has to face and confront his own fears, the least of which is to be re-elected. He may go into a spiritual retreat, as in ashram or monastery, to minimize the demands now thrust upon him. He's been lost in abstractions (Neptune in the 12th), and his sense of equilibrium is out somewhere on a cloud layer. In four or five, years he will definitely experience a "new" understanding of the world.

Like it or not folks, George Bush's chart is wed and bonded so tightly to the US chart, it's frightening, especially his Neptune opposite U.S. Moon, (remember Bush was formerly head of the CIA), and almost every planet in Bush's chart ties in with every planet in the US chart. So what you don't like about him, you won't like about your own country!

Since moving to California, my practice has been 80 percent with clients who have Scorpio Rising and Leo Midheaven's (spiritual warriors); my own relocation chart now has Scorpio Rising, the California chart has Scorpio Rising, and Ghandi's chart was Scorpio Rising; for Christ's sake, even my "own" personal astrologer has Scorpio Rising.

I think there's a real message about California, and those who come here (a veritable spiritual boot camp), and very definitely part of the New Age process, literally. I do believe that California is the "spiritual cradle" for the future.

If anyone out there is interested in all the charts discussed, by all means contact me for dates, time, places and sources for my charts, or if you have a question, comment or want to make an appointment for a consultation, please call me at: 624-2881 or write: P.O. Box 223825, Carmel, CA 93922.

P.S. Anyone out there doubting the validity of astrology needs to know that the day Neptune went into Aries, the Civil War began!

Burns through July 26 in the Studio Theater.

This Western Stage production is directed by TWS Production Manager, Al Strunk.

The audience faces the stands at a Chicago Cubs game and experiences a full nine-inning baseball game through the eyes, ears and personalities of several fans, whose enthusiasm ranges from intense to fanatical.

The nine-member cast will be seen throughout the season in other festival productions, which include Damn Yankees, the baseball musical, on the main stage July 3 through 18 (a theater double-header!).

For more information on The Western Stage 18th Repertory Festival call 755-6816.

HMS Pinafore

The Wharf Theater will set sail with Gilbert &

Sullivan's HMS Pinafore at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, and 8 p.m. Sundays, from April 17 through June 7 at the theater located at the end of Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey.

Produced by Angela DiGirolamo, directed by Gina Welch-Hagen, with musical direction by Barney Hulse and choreography by Gloria Elber, the production features John Espino, Mark Breckenridge, David Mars, Howard Hinckley, Nancy Williams, Dana Speery, and Stephi Waldrip, as well as a large group of "sailors and ladies."

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for children. For reservations, please call 649-2332 or 372-1373.

Lady Audley's Secret

Continuing through May 23 is the 500th play production California's First Theatre's Troupers of the Gold Coast since it reopened to public performances 55 years ago.

Lady Audley's Secret, (or Luke Mark's Revenge, as it's also known), is a play with a twist: role reversal. The gal's the villain and this she does in true cloak-and-dagger tradition: there's bribery, deception, murder, blackmail and scandal.

The First Theatre is located in the heart of downtown Monterey on the corner of Pacific and Scott streets. The box office is open Wednesdays through Saturdays at 1 p.m. Performances are held Fridays and Saturdays. Tickets are $7 for adults, $6 for seniors and teens, $5 subteens.

For more information, call 375-4916.

Vampire Lesbians...

PS Unlimited Productions will present the Monterey Bay Area premier of Vampire Lesbians of Sodom with Sleeping Beauty or Coma at the GroveMont Theatre Arts Center at 320 Hoffman in New Monterey. The production opens May 14 and plays Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 and Saturdays at midnight through June 6.

The campy comedies are Charles Busch's first smash hit successes, which boosted him into off-Broadway fame, won several awards, became instant cult favorites, and closed as off-Broadway's longest-running show.

Tickets are $10 general, $8 students and seniors. Call 649-0976 for tickets, reservations or more information.

This production is rated R; children under 17 must be accompanied by an adult.
